EQUANT ANNOUNCES NEW CEO AND PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON and PARIS (July 28, 2003) - Equant (NYSE: ENT) (Euronext Paris: EQU), a recognized industry leader in global IP and data services for multinational businesses, today announced that its chief operating officer, Daniel Caclin, has been designated by Equant's Supervisory Board, after a recommendation from the Nominating Committee, to replace Didier Delepine, its current president and CEO. Delepine has expressed his wishes to pursue other career opportunities and will leave the company on July 31, 2003.

Caclin will assume the responsibilities of acting president and CEO until his nomination is presented to stockholders at an Extraordinary General Meeting to be held in September.

Caclin has served as Equant's chief operating officer since June 2001. Shortly before the merger he was the CEO of Global One, and prior to that, the CEO of Transpac - companies focused on international and national data and IP services for the corporate business market. Caclin will be based in Reston, Va.

Delepine has successfully led the teams responsible for the integration of Equant and Global One and said, "I have enjoyed the eight years that I have spent at Equant and in particular my five years as president and CEO, which has been the most stimulating period of my business career. My commitment was always to see the merger completed within two years, and that has been accomplished. Consequently, I have decided that now is the right time to move on and consider other opportunities."

Caclin said: "Equant is a recognized industry leader in global IP and data services for multinational businesses. I am proud and excited to be taking the lead for what will certainly be an important next stage in Equant's history - now the restructuring is almost done and we will be focusing on developing new business opportunities and further strengthening our market leadership."
