

STANDING STRONG

2024 SUMMARY ANNUAL REPORT

To the Associates, Customers and Shareholders of RPM:

Throughout RPM's 77-year history, we have experienced many economic cycles. Throughout every peak and trough, and at all times in between, the strength and dedication of our associates have never wavered. This was once again demonstrated in 2024, as our associates thrived in the face of multiple market headwinds to deliver growth and make significant progress toward our MAP (Margin Achievement Plan) 2025 goals. In fiscal year 2024, like the prior seven decades, we continued Standing Strong.

Driven by our ability to capture growth in a mixed economic environment and the execution of our MAP 2025 initiatives, our associates generated annual records in revenue, adjusted EBIT and cash flow from operations, with cash flow far exceeding any previous year. Importantly, the improvements we are making through MAP 2025 are structural and sustainable, which allow us to build on our prior successes and generate long-term value.

Standing Strong not only captures the spirit of our associates, but also the performance of our products and services. Our offerings extend asset life and enable more resilient and sustainable buildings. These benefits are becoming increasingly important to our customers and end users as they look to prevent risk from extreme weather events, invest in restoration and maintenance to extend asset life, and reduce energy consumption.

In addition, Standing Strong aligns with our core values of Transparency, Trust and Respect and our multiyear commitments to sustainability goals. We are Building a Better World by investing in our people and communities and improving our processes to make them more efficient. You can learn more about our recent successes and progress toward our sustainability goals by visiting sustainability.rpminc.com.

As we look ahead, the end of fiscal 2025 will mark the official conclusion of our MAP 2025 initiative; however, the progress we are making will not end there. Our efforts will continue and will make us a stronger organization, no matter where we are in an economic cycle. A year from now, we will be able to report that we are still Standing Strong, after another year of profitable growth, despite continuing economic volatility and geopolitical uncertainty.

Thank you to our associates, who embody our core values and deliver for our customers every day. Thank you to our customers; you are the reason we exist and we value our partnership. Thank you to our shareholders; we value your support and consistently work to reward you for the trust you have placed in us.

Board Farewell

As we reflect on the past year, we would like to honor two respected members of our Board of Directors, Kirkland B. Andrews and John M. Ballbach, who are stepping down after six years of dedicated service. Both joined our board in the summer of 2018, bringing with them a wealth of experience and expertise that has been instrumental in shaping RPM's strategic direction.

Kirk Andrews has been a valuable asset to our board, leveraging his deep knowledge of capital markets and financial disciplines to support RPM's strategies. His insights have contributed to optimizing our capital structure and enhancing shareholder value. Kirk has recently embarked on an exciting new chapter in his career, assuming the role of Senior Vice President and CFO at Consolidated Edison. This new role has presented additional time commitments and conflicts, leading to the decision to step down from our board.

John Ballbach's extensive career experience, including decades of rising leadership roles in the coatings industry, his highly successful tenure as CEO of VWR International and his involvement in numerous private equity firms, has provided invaluable guidance to our board. His strategic vision, industry insights and guidance on areas of commercial and operational excellence have been pivotal in navigating RPM through various market challenges and opportunities. John's decision to not stand for re-election in October is driven by current personal and professional commitments that demand his time and attention.

We are grateful for the dedication, wisdom and leadership that both Kirk and John have brought to RPM over the past six years. During this time, RPM's market capitalization rose from $6.6 billion to $15 billion. This is a testament to their role with RPM's board and leadership team in driving greater operating efficiency and positioning RPM for an exciting future.

The Construction Products Group's (CPG) performance was strong in fiscal year 2024 with sales increasing 7.7% to a record $2.7 billion and adjusted EBIT growing 25.7% to a record $403.2 million, aided by MAP 2025 initiatives. Our OneTremco strategy, which provides customers with comprehensive systems for their buildings, continued to build momentum and was a key driver of the record results. We also benefited from our turnkey roofing system model, our ability to make both new and existing buildings more resilient and energy efficient, and a strong position to serve infrastructure projects. These positive trends are expected to continue in the upcoming year.

Paul Hoogenboom
President, Construction Products Group

Fiscal year 2024 marked a year of consistent margin improvements that resulted in adjusted EBIT increasing 10.0% to a record $400.7 million, despite challenging DIY end markets that caused revenues to decline. The improved profitability was driven by the successful implementation of MAP 2025 margin improvement initiatives and the introduction of new products. The Consumer Group also made significant progress reducing working capital needs, which contributed to RPM's strong cash flow by improving collaboration among our sales, operations and planning teams. We look forward to continuing our progress on MAP 2025 and are confident that the benefits of our hard work in this area will be even more evident once end markets recover.

RPM maintains a deliberate strategic balance among our four operating segments. This diversification helps us to deliver more consistent performance throughout various economic cycles, with strength in some segments offsetting weakness in others. Together, our operating segments, along with our focus on repair and maintenance applications, help RPM Stand Strong.

PERFORMANCE COATINGS GROUP

The Performance Coatings Group (PCG) achieved a third consecutive year of record sales growth with sales increasing 2.0% to $1.5 billion and adjusted EBIT growing 16.1% to $215.5 million. Our flooring systems were a key contributor to growth, due in part to their ability to serve reshoring projects. Businesses in emerging markets performed strongly as they were united under a new management structure, which better positioned them to serve growing demand for infrastructure and manufacturing construction projects around the world. MAP 2025 also played a significant role in the segment's performance this year, and we look forward to building on this momentum in fiscal year 2025.

The challenges that emerged in the second half of fiscal year 2023 continued in 2024 for the Specialty Products Group (SPG) as end markets across most of our businesses remained under pressure. Throughout the year, we focused on improving our efficiency, led by MAP 2025 initiatives, which have helped us navigate this downturn and will help us expand profitability once volumes recover. We also continued to invest in several growth initiatives across our businesses and are optimistic about their long-term prospects. One example is the RPM Innovation Center of Excellence, which opened in fiscal 2024 and allows companies within each of our segments to connect and collaborate in a shared facility on research and product development.

BUILT ON A STRONG FOUNDATION

As any building – whether a house, school or cathedral – needs a solid foundation upon which to be built, so must a successful company have strong tenets from which to grow.

Since 1947, RPM has operated with a dedication to the people who make our company successful: our associates, customers and shareholders. Our culture, and everything built on it, honors that dedication. The foundation we have established and the key values and commitments we continue to live every day reinforce the notion that RPM is Standing Strong.

The true ethos of our culture is The Value of 168[®], our corporate philosophy that has been inherent for decades and signifies our enduring commitment to conduct business with honesty and integrity on behalf of our people.

The building blocks of our foundation also help us form strategies for growth, sustainability and a better future. The evolution of our MAP operational improvement initiative, which began in 2018 as the Margin Acceleration Plan and underwent a second iteration as our current Margin Achievement Plan, as well as our work on Building a Better World, challenges us to keep looking forward and building on our prior accomplishments.

With commitments to our core values of Transparency, Trust and Respect, we reflect on our history, as well as our performance in fiscal year 2024, with pride.

> The Value of 168 serves as a reminder that a person is born with two important gifts: life and time to do something with it.

A DIVERSIFIED MIX SUPPORTS OUR RESILIENCE

RPM maintains a strategic balance among our company’s four segments. This diversified business model across consumer and industrial markets helps our company navigate challenges that our individual businesses may experience and deliver more consistent performance. In addition, RPM’s products and services are focused on repair and maintenance applications, which tend to be more stable through economic cycles than new construction.

A COLLECTIVE COMMITMENT TO MAP 2025

With one year left in MAP 2025, dedication to our operating improvement initiatives has yielded strong results. Collectively, these initiatives create greater collaboration and enable data-driven decision making as we build a more efficient and agile RPM.

The RPM Challenge Coin – a token of gratitude and recognition given to associates – includes elements that are central to our company culture.

TRACK RECORD OF PROVEN PERFORMANCE

We stood strong through several economic cycles over the years – and each time, we have found a way to assess, adjust and grow. Our strong financial performance reflects our ability to consistently grow sales, expand margin and improve cash flow in a mixed economic environment. We continued to deliver record results in fiscal year 2024, achieving several new milestones:

- Record annual revenue of $7.34 billion
- Record annual adjusted EBIT of $941.6 million, including 10 consecutive quarters of record adjusted EBIT
- Record annual cash flow from operating activities of $1.12 billion

In addition, we have a strong track record of delivering industry-leading returns for our shareholders. In fiscal year 2024, we increased our dividend by nearly 10% – marking our 50th annual cash dividend increase or, as we like to call it, “dividend gold.” To put this into perspective, if you invested $1,000 in RPM stock on August 31, 1973, and reinvested dividends for the past 50 years, the total value of that investment (excluding taxes) as of May 31, 2024, would be over $1.3 million. This compares to a total value of $0.2 million for a $1,000 initial investment in the S&P 500® over the same period with dividends reinvested and taxes excluded.¹

➤ We returned $286.9 million to shareholders through cash dividends and share repurchases in 2024 – a direct reflection of the value of our company and the commitments we live by every day.

STANDING BEHIND OUR PRODUCTS AND PEOPLE

When Hurricane Michael tore through Mexico Beach, Florida, most homes throughout the community were destroyed – however, a home that was built with Nudura products remained strong and intact.

The home that was left standing after the hurricane, named Sand Palace, was built in accordance with strict building codes and the intent to withstand even the strongest hurricane-force winds. A crucial component of Sand Palace’s construction: Nudura insulated concrete forms (ICFs). Although five years have passed since Hurricane Michael, this story continues to serve as powerful evidence that our products keep buildings Standing Strong.

Sand Palace in Mexico Beach, Florida, stood strong after Hurricane Michael destroyed many of the surrounding homes in the community.

Our new RPM Innovation Center of Excellence in Greensboro, North Carolina, is designed to accelerate innovation and increase collaboration across the company.

OUR DRIVE TO INNOVATE

Innovation is a crucial aspect of our culture and is led by our associates, who embrace an entrepreneurial spirit and strive to create industry-leading products. Driven by market demand and the needs of our customers, we constantly seek ways to improve our products, expand our offerings and add to our portfolio.

Our products enhance the strength, resilience and aesthetics of buildings, homes, schools and hospitals. In alignment with our Building a Better World strategy, our products make structures better and advance customers’ sustainability goals.

We design products that:

- Enable energy-efficient buildings
- Extend asset life
- Withstand the effects of weather events
- Contain bio-based or recycled materials

SUPPORT FOR WHAT STRENGTHENS US

Our values and commitments start with the people who RPM’s founder, Frank C. Sullivan, considered his original customers: his associates. We honor our associates by maintaining a culture built on Transparency, Trust and Respect. Further, our efforts to keep The Value of 168 at the center of every day strengthens our dedication to providing a work environment that is safe, supportive and rewarding.

Our associates are the “why” – the driving force behind work we are trying to do. We place trust in our associates and demonstrate that we value them by providing opportunities for learning and development and making RPM a great place to work by offering competitive pay and benefits packages (including both a defined pension plan and a 401(k) with company match) that support our associates’ health and wellbeing, including mental health.

Sustainable HVAC restoration coatings and services increase the useful lifespan of aging equipment with less downtime and significant capital avoidance for the customer than new replacement.

The work of our associates extends to our support for our customers. We maintain partnerships characterized by mutual trust and respect, as well as transparency about our business, products and operations. We Stand Strong behind our product quality and reputation and look to grow our business in accordance with our customers' needs.

Our WTI Pure Air HVAC restoration business provides customers with the ability to maintain and restore their HVAC systems at a fraction of the cost of buying new. We stand behind our work and provide our customers with a five-year warranty, which is longer than industry norms for new HVAC equipment.

RPM brands are industry leaders across multiple markets and provide a differentiated value proposition to our customers. We use a unique "supply and apply" strategy for products like Tremco roofing and Stonhard flooring system, where we provide the materials and install the products. This approach enables us to take full accountability for these products and stand behind the quality of what we deliver.

Finally, through our Building a Better World initiative, we strive to drive our sustainability goals globally across Our Products, Our People and Our Processes.

Nudura ICFs: Trusted to Keep Buildings That Matter Standing Strong

Industry-leading Nudura ICFs are a proven superior alternative to traditional building methods and materials, like wood. Buildings constructed with Nudura ICFs require minimal maintenance and are energy efficient and disaster resilient. This is why builders trust the brand for structures that keep owners and occupants safe and comfortable – including recent projects like Jefferson Elementary School in Bowling Green, Kentucky (which also serves as the community's tornado shelter), Aspire Trade High School in Charlotte, North Carolina, and Cottonwood Village, a single-family home subdivision in Powell, Wyoming. Choosing Nudura ICFs gives builders access to the most user-friendly, leak-free wall assembly on the market, including additional product lines like Prebuck window/door bucks and parapet caps, Tremco sealants and waterproofing, and Dryvit exterior finish systems – all tested for compatibility and performance and covered under one warranty.

BUILDING MOMENTUM FOR A STRONG FUTURE

Building on our solid foundation, we are confident that RPM is positioned for continued success and will be Standing Strong in the years ahead.

Our MAP program has fundamentally changed how we operate. Our first set of MAP initiatives, implemented in 2018, focused on margin acceleration and what RPM needed in order to grow at scale. When those goals were met, we discussed how to best continue this progress – leading us to design MAP 2025, which centers on margin achievement. This latest iteration of MAP aims to amplify the strengths of our growth-oriented, entrepreneurial culture while leveraging the success of previous MAP initiatives and continuing to transform RPM into a more collaborative, data-driven and efficient company.

and DAP to expand Tremco CPG products in home improvement retailers. We expect that collaborative efforts like this will continue to accelerate, thereby leveraging the strength of all RPM companies to create greater value for our organization and our stakeholders.

Importantly, the evolution of our MAP initiatives is reflective of the power of RPM to leverage scale across the company in ways we have not done before, continuing to deliver efficiency and greater levels of profitability. As we enter the final year of MAP 2025, we fully expect to continue building on our progress, which will not stop with the official end of MAP 2025.

We have made solid progress on these initiatives, which has resulted in structural improvements to both our margin profile and our ability to generate cash flow. These changes will help us deliver more consistent performance in challenging times, and our progress will be even more evident as our end markets recover.

In addition, MAP has fostered greater collaboration across our businesses and among our associates. For example, our Tremco CPG group won our Connections Creating Value Award for partnering with Rust-Oleum

Aligned with MAP 2025, our 2025 environmental goals are supported by MS-168, our centered approach to operational oversight and management. These goals focus on achieving operational excellence through reductions in our natural resource consumption, including combined Scope 1 and Scope 2 emissions, waste to landfill and energy consumption, as well as the identification of and investment in water conservation systems.

Rust-Oleum Employs Real-Time Data for Profitability

D3 (data-driven decision making) includes RPM's digital transformation journey, and is being rolled out across our businesses. One example of how D3 can benefit our business is found at Rust-Oleum. With more than 14,000 SKUs across its product lines, Rust-Oleum uses data to retrieve true profitability in real time. This monitoring allows the company to see SKU-specific rate of sale data and better manage the product portfolio optimization process.

Continued digital transformation is the future of our company, and as Frank C. Sullivan, our Chair and CEO, recently shared, "Get on the D3 train, or get left behind."

INVESTING IN GROWTH

As we build momentum for the future, it is imperative that we continue to make strategic investments through economic cycles that leverage our entrepreneurial culture to accelerate organic growth. This growth is what will enable us to fully realize the benefits of the MAP initiatives we put in place.

Examples of our investments this year include new facilities in India and Malaysia that serve multiple RPM companies, increasing R&D spending through the establishment of our Innovation Center of Excellence and improving our data-driven decision-making capabilities. We are also expanding our technical sales force and incentivizing the sale of higher-margin offerings. In addition, we continue to launch new products that are helping RPM win market share and create value for customers. One example is DAP Wall & Cavity foam, which allows users to spray energy-saving and fire-resistant insulation from a single canister, rather than the traditional two-canister method.

We also continue to evaluate potential acquisitions to enhance our portfolio. What our founder believed about hiring the right people, in essence, also applies to acquiring the right companies – and we are proud of the brands we have added to our company over the years. We take a disciplined approach to all transactions and carefully measure each opportunity against our established criteria. With multiples above historic averages, M&A activity in fiscal 2024 was below historic levels for RPM; however, we successfully completed several acquisitions, including the wall system fabrication segment of NOW Specialties, LLC last fall. We are excited about the value this addition brings to Tremco’s building envelope system offerings.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH CONFIDENCE

The past six years of our MAP initiatives have made us a more efficient and collaborative organization, while maintaining our entrepreneurial culture. Sustaining greatness and ensuring that RPM continues to Stand Strong take a shared vision, unwavering belief and relentless persistence.

We are confident that our company will endure and thrive no matter what challenges lie ahead. Embedded in our culture are the elements that are critical to our growth and success – strong foundational values, and the persistence and drive to be better every day.

This is the power of RPM – and this is how we will continue

STANDING STRONG

Acquisition Strengthens Tremco CPG’s Value Proposition to Customers

The acquisition of the wall system fabrication segment of NOW Specialties adds Metalite metal panels to the Tremco CPG panelized façade system offering. Customers who want a metal panel façade now have access to a fully compatible, connected building envelope through Tremco CPG.

A growing segment within the construction industry, panelized wall systems are manufactured offsite, and then installed at the building location – offering customers improved efficiency and quality, as well as shorter construction times compared with traditional methods.

This acquisition aligns with the Tremco CPG core value proposition of delivering systems that are easy to build and maintain, virtually impervious to the elements and customizable to provide nearly any desired aesthetic.
