Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations
Critical Accounting Policies
Business Combinations, page 60

1. We note your response to comment 1. Given the significance of the acquired customer relationships from Livongo to your consolidated balance sheet and consolidated statement of operations and the immaturity of the telehealth market, please provide expanded disclosure of the specific facts and circumstances that lead management to conclude that the customer relationships acquired has a useful life of 15.7 years, as Livongo has been providing its services since 2014, or approximately six years as of the date of acquisition. As part of your expanded disclosure, include Livongo's customer attrition information as the largest contributing factor to the useful life. Also under the Goodwill and Intangible Assets section, please discuss the factors that could reasonably result in a decrease in the useful life and the potential material impact to the amount of amortization expense recognized.
