REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders
HyperSciences, Inc.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of HyperSciences, Inc., (“the Company”) as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholders’ deficit and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the financial statements). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2020 and 2019, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The Company’s Ability to Continue as a Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 1 to the financial statements, the Company has a history of net losses and has an accumulated deficit which raises substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans in regard to these matters are also described in Note 1. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits, we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Assure CPA, LLC (formerly DeCoria, Maichel & Teague P.S.)

We have served as the Company's independent auditor since 2017.

HyperSciences, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

NOTE 1 – NATURE OF BUSINESS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Business

HyperSciences, Inc. (“HSI”) was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware on October 13, 2014. HSI is a hypersonic platform technology development company harnessing the power of extreme velocity to radically change the economics of industries that break and pulverize rock through the use of novel hypersonic propulsion technology and other aeronautical and industrial applications. HSI’s largest shareholder is EnergeticX.net, L.L.C., (“EGX”), a company controlled by the CEO of HSI, and which performs technological services similar to HSI.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”). The Company’s fiscal year-end is December 31. The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern, which contemplates the recoverability of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business.

The Company has incurred losses from inception of approximately $14.2 million which, among other factors, raises substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The ability of the Company to continue as a going concern is dependent upon management's plans to raise additional capital from the issuance of debt or the sale of stock, its ability to commence profitable sales of its flagship product, and its ability to generate positive operational cash flow. The accompanying financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be required should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Accounts subject to estimates include income taxes, share based compensation, right of use assets, lease liabilities, and useful lives of equipment and patents.

Risks and Uncertainties

As of December 31, 2020, the Company had not commenced full scale operations. The Company’s activities since inception have consisted of product and business development, and efforts to raise capital. Once the Company commences its planned full-scale operations, it will incur significant additional expenses. The Company is dependent upon additional capital resources for the commencement of its planned principal operations and is subject to significant risks and uncertainties; including failing to secure funding to operationalize the Company’s plans or failing to profitably operate the business.

Revenue Recognition and Contract Costs

The Company’s revenues are earned primarily from services provided relating to the design, testing, system integration and other technological aspects associated with the development of deep down-hole drilling technology. Revenue is recognized to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services using a five-step model to achieve that principle. Contracts are primarily based on negotiated hourly billing rates of the actual time spent on the projects. The Company records revenue when the performance obligations have been met and when associated deliverables have been provided to the customer as defined in individual contracts. Contract costs consist of direct labor and materials required to satisfy the specifications required under the contract. Revenue is not recognized for non-recoverable costs. The Company is reimbursed for actual out-of-pocket costs for materials and other direct incidental expenditures that are incurred in connection with performance under the contract.

HyperSciences, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

Accounts Receivable

The Company records accounts receivable at net realizable value. This value includes an appropriate allowance for estimated uncollectible accounts, if any, to reflect any loss anticipated on the accounts receivable balances.

Property and Equipment

Equipment is recorded at cost. Depreciation is expensed over the estimated useful lives of the related assets using the straight-line method over a useful life of five to ten years. Additions and improvements are capitalized while routine repairs and maintenance are charged to expense as incurred. Upon sale or disposition, the historically recorded asset cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and the net amount less proceeds from disposal is recognized in the statement of operations.

Fair Value Measurements

Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) guidance specifies a hierarchy of valuation techniques based on whether the inputs to those valuation techniques are observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect market data obtained from independent sources, while unobservable inputs reflect market assumptions. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurement) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurement). The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:

Level 1 - Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the reporting entity has the ability to access at the measurement date. Level 1 primarily consists of financial instruments whose value is based on quoted market prices such as exchange-traded instruments and listed equities.

Level 2 - Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly (e.g., quoted prices of similar assets or liabilities in active markets, or quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active).

Level 3 - Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability. Financial instruments are considered Level 3 when their fair values are determined using pricing models, discounted cash flows or similar techniques and at least one significant model assumption or input is unobservable.

At December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the Company had $44,861 and $374,537 of investments in actively traded mutual funds (Level 1) subject to fair value measurement on a recurring basis, respectively (See Note 7).

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of financial instruments reported on the balance sheets include advances from related parties, notes payable, and deposit on investment, approximated their fair value as of December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019.

Advertising & Marketing costs

The Company’s advertising costs are expensed as incurred. During the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, the Company recognized $14,955 and $250,026 in marketing costs, respectively, recorded in general and administrative costs.

HyperSciences, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

NOTE 1 – NATURE OF BUSINESS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES, Continued:

Research and Development

Research and development costs are expensed as incurred. Total expense related to research and development was $1,028,591 and $3,188,359 for the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Research and Development Tax Credits

On December 18, 2015, President Obama signed into law the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes (PATH) Act of 2015 which created two new types of research and development (R&D) credits: one for eligible small businesses and one for qualified small businesses. Eligible small businesses were allowed to utilize the research credit even if they were subject to the Alternative Minimum Tax and qualified small businesses were allowed to utilize, for up to five years, the research credit against the employer portion of payroll tax (i.e., FICA tax) not exceeding $250,000 per year. These new research credits are available for credits generated in tax years beginning after 2015.

The Company elected to use the $250,000 research credit against the employer portion of payroll tax. As a result, a research and development tax credit receivable has been recorded in the Balance Sheet with the offsetting amount recorded as other income on the Statement of Operations. The current portion of the receivable is the amount expected to be refunded or realized within 12 months of the balance sheet date.

Reclassification

Certain amounts in the prior year financial statements have been reclassified to conform to the current year's presentation. These reclassifications had no effect on reported losses, total assets, total liabilities, stockholders' equity, or cash flows as previously reported.

Investments

During the years ended December 31, 2020 and 2019 the Company had invested in mutual funds principally comprised of equity securities. The Company's investments in mutual funds are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in net income (loss). The funds are publicly traded on active markets making them a level 1 on the fair value hierarchy. Investments in mutual funds are classified as current on the balance sheets.

Share-Based Compensation

The Company measures the cost of services received in exchange for an award of an equity instrument based on the grant-date fair value of the award. Equity awards valued on the grant date based on a common share price of $1.03, which was determined by management to be the fair value of a share of common stock based upon a third party valuation performed in 2019. For awards that vest, fair value is recognized over the requisite service period.

Patents

Patents are initially measured at the legal costs incurred in the filing process. Issued patents are being amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives of 17 years. For pending patents, no life has yet to be determined. Once the patents are issued, these patents will be assigned a life and amortized over the life which was assigned. The Company evaluates the recoverability of patents whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that a patent's carrying amount may not be recoverable. Such circumstances could include but are not limited to (1) a significant decrease in the market value of the patent, (2) a significant adverse change in the extent or manner in which the patent may be used, or (3) an accumulation of costs significantly in excess of the amount originally expected for the acquisition of the patent.

HyperSciences, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements

Income Taxes

Income taxes are accounted for under the liability method. Under this method deferred income tax liabilities or assets are determined at the end of each period using the tax rate expected to be in effect when the taxes are expected to be paid or recovered. A valuation allowance is recorded to reduce the deferred tax assets if there is uncertainty regarding their realization.

The Company assesses its income tax positions and records tax benefits for all years subject to examination based upon its evaluation of the facts, circumstances and information available at the reporting date. For those tax positions where there is a greater than 50% likelihood that a tax benefit will be sustained, our policy is to record the largest amount of tax benefit that is more likely than not to be realized upon ultimate settlement with a taxing authority that has full knowledge of all relevant information. For those income tax positions where there is less than 50% likelihood that a tax benefit will be sustained, no tax benefit will be recognized in the financial statements. The Company's policy is that any interest or penalties related to uncertain tax positions are recognized in income tax expense when incurred. The Company has no uncertain tax positions or related interest or penalties requiring accrual at December 31, 2020 and 2019.

Net Income (Loss) Per Common Share

Basic earnings (loss) per share is calculated by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted earnings (loss) per share is calculated by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted average number of common shares and dilutive common stock equivalents outstanding. During periods in which the Company incurs losses, common stock equivalents, if any, are not considered, as their effect would be anti-dilutive. The following securities were not included in computation of diluted net earnings per share as their effect would have been anti-dilutive at December 31, 2020: Preferred Series A shares convertible into 3,706,608 common shares, options to purchase 365,549 shares, and warrants to purchase 37,455 shares. The following securities were not included in computation of diluted net earnings per share as their effect would have been anti-dilutive at December 31, 2019: Preferred Series A shares convertible into 2,793,246 common shares, options to purchase 427,487 shares, convertible notes convertible into 51,704 shares, and warrants to purchase 37,455 shares. (See Note 9)

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of 90 days or less when acquired to be cash equivalents. At December 31, 2020 and 2019, the Company had no items, other than bank deposits, that would be considered cash equivalents. The Company maintains its cash in bank deposit accounts, that at times may exceed federal insured limits. No losses have been recognized as a result of these excess amounts.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In August 2018, the FASB issued ASU No. 2018-13 Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820): Disclosure Framework—Changes to the Disclosure Requirements for Fair Value Measurement. The update removes, modifies and makes additions to the disclosure requirements on fair value measurements. The update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, with early adoption permitted. The adoption of this standard did not have a material impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, and cash flows.

In August 2020, the FASB issued ASU No. 2020-6 Debt with Conversion and Other Options (Subtopic 470-20) and Derivatives and Hedging—Contracts in Entity's Own Equity (Subtopic 815-40): Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity. The update is to address issues identified as a result of the complexity associated with applying generally accepted accounting principles for certain financial instruments with characteristics of liabilities and equity. The update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, including interim periods within those fiscal years and with early adoption permitted. Management is evaluating the impact of this update on the Company's consolidated financial statements.
