

Theodore K. Mitzlaff

Ted is an entrepreneur and partner in numerous businesses. Ted's businesses include Goodwood Brewing Co. LLC, Four Stone Holdings LLC, Reliance Automation LLC, and several commercial real estate partnerships.

After receiving degrees in business and chemistry from the University of Richmond, Ted returned to Louisville to take over his family's specialty chemical business, J&M Laboratories. The business was sold in 2007. Ted received patents on a wastewater optimization system and launched Reliance Automation in 2008.

In 2005 Ted co-founded FTC LLC, which purchased the BBC Brewing Co. In February 2013, Ted was voted by the FTC Board of Directors to become Chairman/CEO. In June of 2015, the company was rebranded as Goodwood Brewing Co. LLC. Presently, Goodwood products are distributed in 14 states, and have brewpubs in Louisville & Frankfort, KY.

Ted was the co-founder of Four Stone Holdings, LLC. Four Stone was created by rolling up four distressed commercial companies in 2009 and 2010. Four Stone produces architectural mill and casework for both commercial and residential customers nationwide, as well as distributing doors and windows.

Ted has served on the Boards of Kentucky Country Day School, KY Derby Museum and the University of Richmond Alumni Board. He is past Chair of the Bluegrass Chapter of the Young Presidents Organization (YPO), and currently serves on the Legislative Committee for the KY Guild of Brewers.
