“Because the ones who are crazy enough to think they can change the world, are the ones who do.”

This was the punchline of Apple’s 1997 Think Different commercial. The ad campaign was meant to inspire both those users stubbornly clinging on to their Macs despite everybody else telling them to just get that awesome new Compaq PC, as well as those proud few Apple employees who were fighting to help keep the company alive. I was one of those employees and this spirit still drives me to this day.

With the funds raised through our crowdfunding offering, we will challenge the status quo by launching the Modbook Pro X. Join us on Wefunder.com, own a stake in Modbook Inc., and help us shake up this $1.9 Billion and growing market.
