What is your product development timeline?

VanMile released its initial app in October 2015. Originally launched as a B2C service, the company continued to refine its platform, with updated releases approximately every two months. VanMile intends to use a portion of this capital raise to upgrade the B2C app, based on customer and user feedback.

In 2018, VanMile launched a B2B version of its service, which has led to significant revenue growth in 2019
