After reviewing any amendment to your registration statement and the information you provide in response to these comments, we may have additional comments.

Registration Statement on Form F-4

Cover Page

1. Revise to remove the assertion that the laws and regulations of the People's Republic of China do not currently have any impact on Provident's business, financial condition and results of operations.
2. We note your disclosure that Provident currently does not have any substantive operations in mainland China. Revise to highlight that Perfect's mobile apps are available for downloading and use in the PRC, that Perfect has operating subsidiaries located in the PRC, and that Perfect's business operations in the PRC are required to obtain and maintain applicable licenses and approvals from different regulatory authorities. Provide prominent disclosure about the legal and operational risks associated with Perfect's operations in the PRC and Provident's ties to Hong Kong.

3. Given that Provident is located in Hong Kong and a majority of its executive officers are located in or have significant ties to Hong Kong, prominently address the challenges that Provident's existing Public Shareholders might face in enforcing their rights under the SPAC's controlling agreements. Also, highlight that action by the PRC government could significantly limit or completely hinder your ability to consummate the Business Combination or Perfect's ability to offer or continue to offer securities to investors and cause the value of such securities to significantly decline or, in extreme cases, become worthless.
4. Discuss the dual class structure and differing voting rights of each class of stock that is expected to be in place after the business combination. Highlight that the dual class structure will have the effect of concentrating voting control with our CEO.

Questions and Answers about the Proposed Transactions, page 10

5. Revise your disclosure to show the potential impact of redemptions on the per share value of the shares owned by non-redeeming shareholders by including a sensitivity analysis showing a range of redemption scenarios, including minimum, maximum and interim redemption levels

What positive and negative factors did Provident's Board consider when determining whether or not to proceed with the Business Combination, page 10

6. You disclose that the ratio of Perfect's customer lifetime value to customer acquisition cost for Perfect's top 100 brands in 2020 is 8.4x. Please revise to further explain what this measure represents, how it measures a customer's lifetime value, and how it is calculated. In this regard, you disclose the customer lifetime value is the sum of total contract value in 2020 adjusted for annual NDRR of 120% for the first four years and 115% for the fifth year. Explain whether the resulting amount represents an estimate of revenue for the next five years and if so, how you determined that was an appropriate period of time and why these are reasonable percentages to use in the calculation. If this amount does not represent five years of revenue, explain what it is. Further, revise your disclosures to explain the estimates and assumptions used in the calculation, why it provides useful information to investors, and how management uses this in managing or monitoring the performance of the business. Refer to SEC Release No. 33-10751.

What equity stake will current Provident shareholders, the FPA Investors, the PIPE Investors..., page 14

7. Please revise to disclose all possible sources and extent of dilution that shareholders who elect not to redeem their shares may experience in connection with the business combination. Provide disclosure of the impact of each significant source of dilution, including the amount of equity held by founders, convertible securities, including warrants retained by redeeming shareholders, at each of the redemption levels detailed in your sensitivity analysis, including any needed assumptions.

8. Quantify the value of warrants, based on recent trading prices, that may be retained by redeeming stockholders assuming maximum redemptions and identify any material resulting risks.
9. We note your maximum redemption scenario reflected here and throughout the filing, including the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information, reflects the maximum number of redemptions that may occur so not less than $125 million of cash is available upon consummation of the transaction. In order to reduce confusion, consider changing the title of this scenario to reflect that it is an "illustrative redemption" only and to avoid the implication that the scenario reflects a 100% redemption of shares.

What interests do Provident's current officers and directors have in the Proposed Transactions?, page 18

10. Please revise the conflicts of interest discussion so that it highlights all material interests in the transaction held by the sponsor and the company's officers and directors. This could include fiduciary or contractual obligations to other entities as well as any interest in, or affiliation with, the target company. In addition, please clarify how the board considered those conflicts in negotiating and recommending the business combination.

What are the U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Mergers to U.S. Holders of Provident Class A Ordinary Shares and Public Warrants?, page 20

11. We note that it is intended that the mergers qualify as an F Reorganization for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Please include a tax opinion from counsel for this and the other material federal tax consequences. Given your representation that there is an absence of direct guidance on the application of Section 368(a)(1)(F) of the Code to a statutory conversion of a corporation holding only investment-type assets such as Provident Acquisition Corp, the tax opinion should address the degree of uncertainty, state the key factors used in the analysis, and discuss the risks to investors of the uncertain tax treatment.

Summary of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus, page 28

12. It appears that underwriting fees remain constant and are not adjusted based on redemptions. Revise your disclosure to disclose the effective underwriting fee on a percentage basis for shares at each redemption level presented in your sensitivity analysis related to dilution.

Interests of Certain Persons in the Proposed Transactions, page 40

13. We note your disclosure that Provident Acquisition Corp. or its affiliates may offer incentives to investors who indicate they intend to vote against the business combination proposal. Please revise to more prominently discuss the ability of Provident or its affiliates to ensure the business combination is approved and the impact it could have on public investors. Additionally, address the potential conflicts of interest inherent in such incentive arrangements and address that the sponsor and the investors who receive the incentives may benefit and that such benefit may be to the detriment of the public shareholders.
14. Please expand your disclosure regarding the sponsor's ownership interest in the target company. Disclose the approximate dollar value of the interest based on the transaction value and recent trading prices as compared to the price paid.

Organizational Structure

Following the Proposed Transactions, page 41

15. Please revise your post-offering organizational structure diagram to reflect the percentage of voting and economic rights for each post-offering holder or class of holders of Perfect Corp.

Risk Factors

Risks Related to the Perfect Class A Ordinary Shares and the Perfect Warrants

The dual class structure of our Ordinary Shares has the effect of concentrating voting control with our CEO..., page 72

16. Address the risk that your capital structure may render your shares ineligible for inclusion in certain stock market indices, which could adversely affect share price and liquidity.

Background of the Business Combination, page 117

17. We note that you did not proceed to enter into a business combination with the Initial Target "because of other strategic priorities of the Initial Target and implications thereof on the timeline of the potential business combination." Please revise to provide a more detailed discussion regarding the decision not to proceed with the Initial Target including what is meant by "other strategic priorities of the Initial Target" and implications on the timeline of the potential business combination.

Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information

Basis of Pro Forma Presentation, page 156

18. You disclose that the maximum redemption scenario assumes 21,000,634 shares of Provident Class A Ordinary Shares are redeemed. As there are 23,000,000 Class A Ordinary Shares subject to possible redemption, please revise to clarify whether the public shareholders have the ability to redeem shares in excess of 21,000,634 shares. If so, disclose whether the merger will still be consummated if that happens or tell us how you intend to fund any additional redemptions. As applicable, disclose the impact on the pro forma information assuming 100% of the shares are redeemed. If the shareholders do not have the ability to redeem additional shares, tell us what conditions are in place to restrict such redemptions.

Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Statement of Operations for the Year Ended December 31, 2020, page 163

19. Please revise to record the $6.9 million of estimated transaction costs that are not recorded as expenses in the historical financial statements of Provident in the pro forma condensed combined statement of operations, effective as of the beginning of the fiscal year presented. Refer to Rule 11-02(a)(6)(B) and 11-02(a)(11)(i) of Regulation S-X.

Provident's Business
Permitted Purchases of Our Securities, page 176

20. We note your disclosure that the sponsor and Perfect's directors, officers or their affiliates may purchase additional Public Shares in the open market prior to the completion of the Business Combination. In your response letter, please confirm your understanding that the sponsor or its affiliates will not purchase the shares at a price higher than the price offered through the SPAC redemption process. For guidance, refer to Compliance and Disclosure Interpretation, Question 166.01 of Tender Offers and Schedules.

Redemption Rights for Public Shareholders, page 177

21. We note that certain shareholders agreed to waive their redemption rights. Please describe any consideration provided in exchange for this agreement.

Product Pipeline
Non-fungible tokens ("NFTs"), page 210

22. We note your disclosure that you are working on developing an "end-to-end solution for the transformation of physical goods into digital SKUs and related NFTs." Please revise to provide a more detailed discussion regarding how the platform will operate and how the NFT's will be incorporated into your product offerings. As a non-exclusive example, it is unclear whether the platform will generate revenue from the sale of NFT's directly to consumers, or if the NFT's will be incorporated into your customer's subscription.

24. Please clarify whether the NDRR calculation only includes annual recurring revenue from the same set of customers as of the end of the period that were included at the beginning of the period. If your calculation includes new customers obtained during the period, explain how such measure provides an accurate view of retention.

Key Factors Affecting Our Results of Operations, page 222

Please expand your disclosures to identify and discuss key performance indicators you use to measure retention, such as NDRR or a retention rate, as well as any other metrics you use to manage the business that would provide for a better understanding and evaluation of your operations. Refer to SEC Release No. 33-10751.
