Note 2 – Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Loans Held for Investment, Page F-12

2. We note your disclosure on pages 122 and 145 that as a result of market disruption in 2007 you transferred $21.8 billion of loans from held for sale to held for investment and that you expect to retain more loans in the held for investment portfolio until market conditions improve. This disclosure suggests that the transfer is a temporary reclassification due to market conditions. Please refer to paragraph 6 of SFAS 65 and SOP 01-6 and tell us:

- how you define “foreseeable future”;
 - whether there have been any changes to your definition of “foreseeable future” as a result of current market conditions;
 - how your intent to hold the loans until “market conditions improve” is consistent with the requirement to hold for the “foreseeable future” or maturity and in particular, how this is consistent with past practices for similar loans; and
 - the specific facts and circumstances you believe would allow you to transfer the loans back to held for sale.
3. In connection with our comment above, please tell us how you intend to recognize income on the $21.8 billion of loans transferred from held for sale to held for investment and the authoritative literature relied upon in making this determination. Your discussion should address loans where interest is accruing, as well as those on non-accrual status. When addressing loans on non-accrual status, specifically address the accounting for the discount associated with the loans which arose upon transfer of the loans for sale (where they were carried at the lower of cost or market) to held for investment. Furthermore, if material, consider the need to disclose in MD&A the impact of accreting the LOCOM discount on your results of operations.

Note 8 – Loans Held for Investment, Net, Page F-40

4. We note from your disclosure on pages 123 and F-42 that you have included an estimate for mortgage insurance recoveries (approximately $490 million as of December 31, 2007) in other assets. Please address the following:
- Tell us why you recorded this estimate as a credit to the loan loss provision as opposed to other non-interest income; and
 - Although your estimate does not reduce your allowance for loan losses on your balance sheet, tell us why it is appropriate to have narrative and tabular presentations of the allowance for loan losses, net of mortgage insurance receivable within your notes to the financial statements (e.g., F-43) and elsewhere in your annual report (e.g. pages 60 and 128). Please advise or revise in future filings.
