

Safe Harbor Statement

Statements in this document that are not historical are forward-looking and are subject to various risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to vary materially from those stated. Forward-looking statements are based on currently available information and include, among others, statements regarding the Company's outlook with respect to future financial results. These risks and uncertainties include those associated with the timing of the Company's release of earnings as well as the timing and results of the audits of the Company's financial statements, and those associated with the operation of our business, including the risk that customer demand will decrease either temporarily or permanently, whether due to the Company's actions or the demand for the Company's products, and that the Company may not be able to respond through cost reductions in a timely and effective manner; price cutting, new product introductions and other actions by our competitors; fluctuations in the costs of raw materials that the Company is not able to pass through to customers because of existing contracts or market factors; the challenges attendant to plant closings and restructurings, including the difficulty of predicting plant closing and relocation costs, the difficulty of commencing or increasing production at existing facilities, and the reactions of customers, governmental units, employees and other groups; the challenges attendant to plant construction; and the ability to realize cost savings from restructuring activities. Other risks and uncertainties are set forth in Molex's documents filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including its Form 10-K for the year ended June 30, 2005. Molex disclaims any obligation to revise these forward-looking statements or to provide any updates regarding information contained in this document resulting from new information, future events or otherwise.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In Molex Incorporated's ("Molex" or the "Company") conference call on April 20, 2006 regarding the Company's financial results for the fiscal quarter ended March 31, 2006 and the following slides, Molex may refer to non-GAAP financial measures to describe earnings for such periods excluding the items referenced in the relevant slides used during this conference call. This is in addition to disclosing the most directly comparable measure for such periods determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, or GAAP. Molex believes that these non-GAAP financial measures provide useful information to investors because they provide information about the estimated financial performance of Molex's ongoing business and provide for greater transparency of supplemental information used by management in its financial and operational decision-making. These non-GAAP financial measures may be different from non-GAAP financial measures used by other companies. Non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered as a substitute for, or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP.

Investors are encouraged to review the relevant slides reconciling the non-GAAP financial measures intended to be used in the conference call to the most comparable GAAP measure.

\*"EBITDA" and "Adjusted EBITDA" are non-GAAP financial measures. EBITDA represents earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, and Adjusted EBITDA represents EBITDA excluding restructuring expenses (see footnote 1 on page 5). Management believes that EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA are useful measures, along with other measurements under GAAP, for evaluating the operating performance of the Company and is a conventionally used financial indicator. However, in no event should EBITDA or Adjusted EBITDA be considered as an alternative to net income or any other GAAP measure as an indicator of our performance. Nor should EBITDA or Adjusted EBITDA be considered as an alternative to cash flows provided by operating activities as an indicator of cash flows or a measure of liquidity.*
