LOGIC Devices Incorporated

Notes to Condensed Financial Statements

1. Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited interim financial statements reflect all adjustments that are, in the opinion of management, necessary to present fairly the financial position, results of operations, and cash flows of LOGIC Devices Incorporated (“the Company”) for the periods indicated.

The accompanying unaudited interim financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the instructions for Form 10-Q, and, therefore, do not include all information and footnotes necessary for a complete presentation of the financial position, results of operations, and cash flows for the Company, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The Company has filed audited financial statements that include all information and footnotes necessary for such a presentation of the financial position, results of operations, and cash flows for the fiscal years ended September 30, 2006 and 2005, with the Securities and Exchange Commission. It is suggested that the accompanying unaudited interim financial statements be read in conjunction with the aforementioned audited financial statements. In the opinion of management, the unaudited interim financial statements reflect all adjustments (consisting of normal and recurring accruals) necessary to make the results of operations for the interim periods a fair statement of such operations. The results of operations for the interim period ended June 30, 2007 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full fiscal year to end September 30, 2007.

2. Inventories

A summary of inventories follows:

	June 30, 2007	September 30, 2006
Raw materials	$ 807,200	$ 577,000
Work-in-process	1,253,600	1,597,600
Finished goods	2,114,800	3,065,100
	$ 4,175,600	$ 5,239,700

The Company used $785,900 of its inventory reserve to write off raw materials and work-in-process at June 30, 2007. Based on slowing sales, the Company performed additional analysis of its raw materials and work-in-process, which resulted in an additional provision for inventory obsolescence of $434,100 and an inventory write-off of $340,900 during the quarter ended June 30, 2007.

3. Other Assets

As of June 30, 2007, the Company determined its capitalized test software development costs were fully impaired, per Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Statement No. 144 (“FAS 144”), Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. As a result, the Company wrote off the balance of $400,200.

4. Shareholders' Equity

The Company issues common stock options to its employees, certain consultants, and certain of its board members. Effective January 1, 2006, the Company adopted FASB Statement No. 123 (revised 2004) ("FAS 123 (R)"), Share-Based Payments. FAS 123 (R) requires all entities to recognize compensation expense in an amount equal to the fair value of share-based payments, such as stock options granted to employees. The Company elected to apply FAS 123 (R) on a modified prospective method. Under this method, the Company is required to record compensation expense for newly granted options and (as previous awards continue to vest) for the unvested portion of previously granted awards that remain outstanding at the date of adoption. Additionally, the financial statements for the prior interim periods and fiscal year do not reflect any adjusted amounts.

5. Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing net income by the weighted average common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share reflects the net incremental shares that would be issued if dilutive outstanding stock options were exercised, using the treasury stock method. In the case of a net loss, no incremental shares would be issued because they are antidilutive. Stock options with exercise prices above the average market price during the period are also antidilutive.

No stock options were included in the computation of diluted loss per share for the quarter and nine months ended June 30, 2007 because the Company incurred a net loss in those periods. For the quarter and nine months ended June 30, 2006, the Company had 28,094 and 14,038 dilutive common shares as the weighted average price of the Company's common stock during the quarter and nine months was $1.33 and $1.22.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Reported financial results may not be indicative of the financial results of future periods. All non-historical information contained in the following discussion constitutes forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Words such as "anticipates, appears, expects, intends, hopes, plans, believes, seeks, estimates, may, will," and variations of these words or similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements. These statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve a number of risks and uncertainties, including but not limited to operating results, new product introductions and sales, competitive conditions, customer demand, capital expenditures and resources, manufacturing capacity utilization, and intellectual property claims and defense. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially are included in, but not limited to, those identified in "Item 1A – Risk Factors" in the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the Company's fiscal year ended September 30, 2006 and in any Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for a prior quarter in the Company's fiscal year ending September 30, 2007, including this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, and in the "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" in such Annual Report on Form 10-K and in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. The Company undertakes no obligation to publicly release the results of any revisions to these forward-looking statements that may reflect events or circumstances after the date of this report.

Results of Operations

Revenues

In comparison to the same periods of fiscal 2006, the Company's net revenues for the quarter ended June 30, 2007 decreased by $109,600 or 9%, while its net revenues for the nine months ended June 30, 2007 increased $362,400 or 11%. The increase in the nine-month period is due to a strong contribution from a digital cinema customer, which is expected to continue, while the decrease for the quarter was the result of a decline in foreign sales.

Expenses

The cost of revenues for the quarter and nine-month period ended June 30, 2007 increased by $815,500 and $823,700, respectively, compared to the same periods of fiscal 2006. This increase mainly resulted from the declining sales of items previously written-down to zero in periods of fiscal 2007 compared to fiscal 2006 and increased write-downs of inventory for obsolescence during fiscal 2007. During the first six months of fiscal 2007, the Company increased its inventory reserve by $310,800 based on its standard inventory analyses. Recognizing its declining sales, the Company provided additional reserves of $434,100 for inventory obsolescence and wrote-off $340,900 of raw materials and work-in-process identified as obsolete directly against cost of revenues for the quarter ended June 30, 2007. During the quarter and nine-month period ended June 30, 2006, the Company had increased its inventory reserve by $320,000 and $570,000, respectively, based on its standard inventory analyses.

Research and development expenditures for the quarter and nine-month period ended June 30, 2007 increased by $439,000 and $767,800, respectively, compared to the same periods of fiscal 2006. These increases were due in part to the write-off of the remaining balance of $400,200 of capitalized test software development costs during the quarter ended June 30, 2007. The increase in the nine-month period was also the result of staffing additions as the Company continues its primary focus on new product development and the retooling of product lines to new wafer foundry sources.

Selling, general, and administrative expenditures for the quarter and nine-month period ended June 30, 2007 increased by $123,100 or 39% and $184,200 or 18%, respectively, compared to the same periods of fiscal 2006. This is mainly the result of expensing certain prepaid expenses whose useful life had expired in the normal course of business and increased accounting and legal fees in fiscal 2007.

As a result of the decrease in revenues, increase in cost of revenues, and inventory write-down, the Company had a net loss for the quarter and nine-month period ended June 30, 2007 of $1,427,600 and $1,332,300, respectively, compared to a net income of $60,100 and $57,600, respectively, for the same periods of fiscal 2006.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Cash Flows

While the Company had a net loss of $1,332,300 for the nine months ended June 30, 2007, it produced net cash of $213,700 from operations during the period, mainly from the collection of accounts receivable. During this 2007 period, the Company wrote off or established additional reserves for inventory of $1,085,800 and wrote-off $400,200 of capitalized test software, both of which increased the net loss but did not affect cash flows. The Company used $539,800 and $199,600 for the purchase of available-for-sale securities and capital expenditures, respectively. The Company received $55,000 from the exercise of previously issued common stock options during the nine-month period.

During the nine-month period ended June 30, 2006, the Company produced net cash of $891,500 from operations while having a net income of $57,600. During this 2006 period, the Company established additional inventory reserves of $570,000 and wrote-off $200,000 of capitalized test software, both of which reduced net income but not cash flows. The Company had net collections of $111,100 of accounts receivable, while it used $142,900 to produce inventory and $145,500 to reduce accounts payable. The Company also used $137,900 on capital expenditures and $97,200 on the development of capitalized test software.

Working Capital

Historically, due to order scheduling by customers, up to 80% of the Company's quarterly revenues are often shipped in the last month of the fiscal quarter, so a large portion of the shipments included in quarter-end accounts receivable are not yet due per the Company's net 30-day terms. As a result, quarter-end accounts receivable balances are often at their highest point for the respective period, but are normally collected within the 30-day terms.

Investment in inventories has been significant and will continue to be significant in the future. However, during the past few years, the Company has been able to reduce its levels of inventories as it shifts from more competitive second source products to proprietary sole source products. The Company seeks to further streamline its inventories as it continues to shift to sole source proprietary products. Although high levels of inventory impact liquidity, the Company believes these costs are a less costly alternative to owning a wafer fabrication facility.

The Company establishes reserves through periodic reviews of inventory on-hand, including lower-of-cost-or-market and excess analyses. For example, if a product type has unit costs higher than the average selling price or has more on-hand than it has sold or expects to sell, the Company provides a reserve. The Company believes its current reserve (approximately 39% of total gross inventories) provides a reasonable estimate of the recoverability of inventories. The Company also takes physical inventory write-downs for obsolete and slow-moving items when deemed necessary. During the nine months ended June 30, 2007, the Company decreased its gross inventories by $1.1 million, with $305,900 being written-off as obsolete and the remaining $799,200 being from the sales of existing inventory.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk

The Company conducts all of its transactions, including those with foreign suppliers and customers, in U.S. dollars. It is therefore not directly subject to the risks of foreign currency fluctuations and does not hedge or otherwise deal in currency instruments in an attempt to minimize such risks. Demand from foreign customers and the ability or willingness of foreign suppliers to perform their obligations to the Company may be affected by the relative change in value of such customer or supplier's domestic currency to the value of the U.S. dollar. Furthermore, changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar may change the price of the Company's prices relative to the prices of its foreign competitors.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

Based upon an evaluation as of June 30, 2007, the Company's President and Acting Chief Financial Officer concluded that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures are effective. There have been no changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the Company's quarter ended June 30, 2007 that materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.

Part II – OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

From time to time, the Company receives demands from various parties asserting patent or other claims in the ordinary course of business. These demands are often not based on any specific knowledge of Company products or operations. Because of the uncertainties inherent in litigation, the outcome of any such claim, including simply the cost of a successful defense against such a claim, could have a material adverse impact on us.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

The Company's lease expires September 30, 2007, which will require the Company to move its headquarters to a new facility. The Company has signed a new facility lease and expects to move into it effective September 1, 2007, which may cause a disruption of its operations that could have an adverse impact on the financial condition of the Company.

4. The registrant's other certifying officer and I are responsible for establishing and maintaining disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Exchange Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e)) for the registrant and have:
 - (a) Designed such disclosure controls and procedures, or caused such disclosure controls and procedures to be designed under our supervision, to ensure that material information relating to the registrant is made known to us by others, particularly during the period in which this report is being prepared;
 - (b) Evaluated the effectiveness of the registrant's disclosure controls and procedures and presented in this report our conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures, as of the end of the period covered by this report based on such evaluation; and
 - (c) Disclosed in this report any change in the registrant's internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the registrant's most recent fiscal quarter that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, the registrant's internal control over financial reporting; and
5. The registrant's other certifying officer and I have disclosed, based on our most recent evaluation of internal control over financial reporting, to the registrant's auditors and the audit committee of the registrant's board of directors:
 - (a) All significant deficiencies and material weaknesses in the design or operation of internal control over financial reporting that are reasonably likely to adversely affect the registrant's ability to record, process, summarize, and report financial information; and
 - (b) Any fraud, whether or not material, that involves management or other employees who have a significant role in the registrant's internal control over financial reporting.
