Legion Partners

Overview

- SEC-registered investment advisor based in Los Angeles, CA; founded in 2012
- Investment team with over 45 years combined activist experience
- Proven track record of effective shareholder engagement

Drive Value Through Activism

- Align the interests of company board and management with those of shareholders
- Legion has been the driver for 61 board placements, ensuring better qualified and more diverse boards – 52% of the new directors have been women and/or ethnically diverse¹
- Enhance and accelerate value creation through a variety of activist strategies

Primo Water

- We are a significant stockholder in PRMW, beneficially owning ~1.5% of S/O
- Significant changes are required at Primo to improve performance
- Board is attempting to circumvent shareholders' most fundamental right to vote for all four of our nominees by refusing to recognize our valid nomination of Henrik Jelert and Lori T. Marcus – in weaponizing its bylaws, the board not only attacks fundamental shareholder rights, but is wasting time and shareholder capital
- We have an upcoming hearing scheduled before the Ontario Superior Court of Justice (the "Court") on this issue – if we are successful, the Annual Meeting is likely to be delayed, and proxy materials will need to be remailed

Legion seeks to generate attractive long-term returns employing deep fundamental research, a concentrated portfolio and responsible, collaborative engagement as a catalyst for value creation

Note: 1. This includes board members placed due to Legion settlements and/or agreements (35 directors), and board members added due to Legion advocating for board changes and/or through direct influence (26 directors) through December 2022

Primo Provides a Broad Spectrum of Sustainable Water Solutions

Primo has full end-to-end offering in water with a business spanning both the “razor” and “razorblade” that should increase household penetration over time

Primo’s strategy is to increase household penetration through a razor/razorblade strategy, recurring revenue model and enhanced e-commerce solutions

This campaign is about refreshing a stale and insular Board with experts in water delivery, beverage operations, marketing and finance who can immediately begin to help unlock Primo's full value

Why Are We Running This Campaign?

Poor Track Record	Board Is Broken & Needs Refreshment	Our Nominees Can Create Value
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Long-term TSR underperformance vs. peers and indices ▪ Water Direct has shown little organic growth masked by costly acquisitions, weak disclosures and price increases ▪ Water Refill and Exchange have been under-managed for years ▪ Historic ROIC has been very weak ▪ Weaponizing its Bylaws to try to deprive shareholders of a choice to elect Mr. Jelert and Ms. Marcus 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Board is controlled by two ex-CEOs of Legacy Primo and the Company and two members from the same fund that sold most of their PRMW stock in 2011, with an avg. tenure of 16 yrs¹, creating a complacent stale culture ▪ The recent refresh of just one retiring director² was inadequate, reactive and flawed – the new director has a checkered past at Aramark ▪ Recent Board additions, sourced by a Board controlled by long-tenured directors, do not possess most relevant skillsets and have failed to improve Primo's performance ▪ Until the Board's leaders are replaced, we don't believe this Board will drive shareholder value 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Our nominees' experience addresses key gaps that will help improve Primo's underperformance ▪ The nominees will bring diverse perspectives to help improve growth and marketing, reduce corporate bloat, tie compensation to shareholder value creation and address ESG issues ▪ We believe our nominees and their focus on driving improved performance can increase earnings which could triple³ Primo's stock price by 2027

Shareholder-driven change is needed to substantially upgrade a dysfunctional Board which seems more interested in protecting status quo than driving shareholder value

Primo's proxy dated 3/31/22 noted that Stephen Halperin will not stand for re-election at the 2023 annual meeting pursuant to Primo's Corporate Governance Guidelines (no director may stand for election or re-election to the Board after the director has reached the age of 73). 3. We believe that a large portion of the Company's poor stock price performance can be attributed to its subpar operational performance and lack of credibility with the investor and sell-side community

Primo Valuation

We believe improving the Board could allow substantial value creation for shareholders

PRMW value creation – expected share price

At the November 2021 Investor Day, Primo implied a multiple re-rating opportunity to 14x NTM EBITDA – it is currently trading at 8x

Source: SEC Filings, Legion Partners' Estimates, Capital IQ

Note: DCF Case assumes 22% adjusted EBITDA margin (compared to 19% in 2022) and implementing a prudent capital spending program such that the return on invested capital ("ROIC") of Primo expands to 12% from its current level of 6%. DCF Case represents current discounted value of PRMW share. Assuming a discount rate of 10%, $33.48 current discounted value implies $45 of future share price in 3 years, which triples current share price.

Primo Stakeholders Deserve New Board Leadership

We believe Primo's management, employees, customers and stockholders all deserve new Board leadership that is highly experienced

- Water Delivery Experience: to evaluate and improve Primo's operational performance and implement detailed value creation ideas on improving customer satisfaction and driving organic customer growth
- Digital / Technology / Marketing Experience: to help guide the implementation of successful marketing tactics, improve the Primo app, simplify the current convoluted multi-brand structure, and leverage the ESG story to better connect with customers
- Cost Cutting / Operational Efficiencies Experience: to help oversee benchmarking of Primo to other route-based peers in an effort to right-size SG&A expenses and drive operational efficiencies
- Capital Markets Experience: to advise on capital allocation including detailed review of returns from capital spending and acquisition efforts and to effectively communicate an improving ROIC story to investors
- Governance and Investment Experience: to restructure executive compensation programs to align with long-term value creation as well as oversee transformation of ESG programs to focus on improving carbon reduction efforts and communicating discrete goals related to these activities

Primo's existing Board is stale and lacks the relevant skill sets required to oversee the value creation opportunities which will benefit all stockholders

Third-Party Analysts Recognize the Need for Change

J.P.Morgan

“...we think Legion highlights a number of areas that investors have been frustrated with over the years and, in our view, we think it’s usually a positive to have engaged investors push for a more independent board with relevant experience to the underlying business.”

(March 6, 2023)

“Outside of an occasional spasm, Primo Water (PRMW) has basically traded in the mid-teens for the past five years. Some would call that underwhelming. Others would call it “chronic underperformance” ...CEO Tom Harrington is 65 and his predecessor – Chairman Jeremy Fowden – is 66. Neither can really make the case that PRMW's current plan is working very smoothly”

(March 6, 2023)

“PRMW also announced Friday that it has added Eric Foss to its board. That is the same Eric Foss that was about to be run out of Aramark at the time Mantle Ridge arrived in 2019. If PRMW adds him to its Human Resources & Compensation Committee, we might choke on laughter as Aramark's pay packages doubled as a lightning rod for criticism during the Foss Era.”

(March 20, 2023)

Legion's Engagement with Primo

100 minutes – that is the sum of the time Primo's management team wanted to spend answering our questions on their business and performance – we believe this is because they understand our questions are hard to answer given their lackluster performance

- We have tried to proactively engage with Primo's team for months with little success
- November 2022 – 3 days prior to Meeting #1, Board determines to amend Bylaws to adopt restrictive bylaw amendments that they are now weaponizing to try to invalidate Legion's nominations of Mr. Jelert and Ms. Marcus
- November 2022 – Meeting #1 – took two months to arrange – length 45 minutes
- December 2022 – Meeting #2 – delayed by a month due to CEO's travel – length 30 minutes
- January 2023 (ICR Conference) – Meeting #3 – length 25 minutes
 - After 20 minutes, Jon Kathol (Primo VP of Investor Relations) noted that we only had 5 minutes remaining
 - After 4 additional minutes, Mr. Kathol instructed Legion to ask its last question as time was up
- March 2023 – Legion nominates and Board attempts to initially invalidate Legion's entire nomination; after Legion sues, Primo agrees to recognize only two of Legion's four nominees rather than allowing shareholders to decide and vote at the Annual Meeting

Legion has made multiple unsuccessful attempts to engage with Primo's board in the last month – the Board appears to be uninterested finding a constructive path forward

Legion Forced to Litigate to Permit Shareholders to Vote on All Four of Its Nominees

A Board should not be permitted to weaponize its bylaws to invalidate a nomination – shareholders should have a choice and if a Board believes a nominee is not qualified, it can raise its concerns with shareholders – rather than depriving shareholders of the right to vote

- In November 2022, three days before Legion’s first scheduled meeting with management, Primo amended its Bylaws to impose new, restrictive advance notice bylaw provisions, including a questionnaire and other provisions that were previously considered problematic by ISS a year earlier
- After Legion nominates, Board attempts to invalidate entire nomination
- After Legion sues Primo, Primo announces that it has backtracked and agreed to recognize two of Legion’s nominees – but refuses to recognize Mr. Jelert and Ms. Marcus
- Primo exaggerates and disparages Mr. Jelert and Ms. Marcus for purported omissions in their questionnaires that are not material or required under applicable corporate or securities laws
- Litigation is pending in the Ontario Superior Court of Justice
- If litigation is successful, any proxies received by Primo will be discarded and the meeting will likely need to be rescheduled

We urge fellow stockholders to vote AGAINST proposal 5 to approve the Bylaws

- Similar provisions were rejected by ISS and institutional stockholders in 2021
- Bylaws are contrary to TSX guidelines and ISS policy for Canadian companies

Timeline of Recent Entrenchment Tactics

Date	Event
3/25/21	 Company files definitive proxy materials proposing a continuance under the OBCA that is bundled with new bylaws containing more restrictive advance notice bylaw provisions
4/15/21	 ISS recommends AGAINST the continuance proposal noting certain “problematic” provisions in the new articles and bylaws
4/21/21	 Company amends its proxy materials to remove certain, but not all of, the problematic bylaw provisions
5/4/21	 ISS continues to recommend a vote AGAINST the continuance proposal because bylaws continue to contain “problematic” provisions
9/13/22	 Legion begins active engagement and requests meeting with management
11/8/22	 The Board amends the bylaws, to include completion of a questionnaire and other problematic provisions previously removed
11/10/22	 Board files new bylaws with Form 10-Q and not as a standalone Form 8-K, perhaps to mask the new changes and doesn't file them in Canada until March 1, 2023
11/11/22	  Legion has Meeting #1 with the Company's CEO, CFO and VP of IR
3/6/23	 Legion submits nomination letter and delivers completed questionnaires from nominees
3/13/23	 Universal proxy card deadline to submit names of nominees
3/16/23	 Company sends letter to Legion claiming questionnaires have material omissions and entire nomination is invalidated and rejected
3/17/23	 Company files preliminary proxy materials not using a universal proxy card and noting Legion's entire nomination is rejected
3/19/23	 Legion submits supplemental information to address all purported deficiencies, noting advance notice bylaw deadline is April 3, 2023 and requesting waiver of purported deficiencies
3/22/23	 Legion files a lawsuit in Canada seeking a court order to validate its nomination
3/22/23	 Company announces that it has waived purported deficiencies for 2 of Legion's nominees only and claims advance notice bylaw deadline was accelerated to March 13, 2023 despite separate deadline under bylaws
3/23/23	 Company determines to only recognize 2 of Legion's nominees on its proxy card
4/3/23	 Deadline for shareholder nominations under the Company's bylaws which the Company now rejects

PRMW Needs to #PurifyThePrimoBoard

We urge fellow stockholders to vote the WHITE proxy card to elect strong and proven industry leaders to the Board

- Legion's nominees will seek to oversee:
 - ✓ Restore profit and revive growth of Water Direct through improving field sales, addressing customer service issues, and strengthening digital marketing and social engagement
 - ✓ Oversee plan to grow locations for Water Exchange, Water Refill and Water Dispensers across the US to fulfill the promise of the Legacy Primo acquisition
 - ✓ Improve capital allocation with a key focus on ROIC and free cash flow generation
 - ✓ Refine investor communications by setting specific financial targets, hosting an investor day with a detailed segment-by-segment review and improving disclosure to enhance sell-side coverage
 - ✓ Implement best practices in governance and redesign executive compensation to align with long-term value creation

Without the spotlight of pressure and meaningful Board refreshment, we fear that PRMW will continue to be undermanaged and TSR will continue to underperform

Case for Change

- 1. Organic growth has not materialized
- 2. Marketing is broken
 - (a.) Marketing department has essentially been terminated
 - (b.) Brand strategy lacks focus and efficiency
 - (c.) App and digital marketing are broken
- 3. Capital expenditures have ballooned over time
- 4. Peer benchmarking indicates bloated cost structure
- 5. ROIC indicates prolonged value destruction
- 6. Operational metrics need significant improvement
- 7. ESG and DEI miss an ocean of opportunities

1. Organic growth has not materialized

The Water Industry Has Shown Resilient Growth

Primo's management team has repeatedly touted industry growth:

Resilient Bottled Water Industry Across Economic Cycles

Bottled Water Industry Has Shown Consistent Growth Despite Multiple Economic Downturns

Bottled Water – Gallons and Gallons Per Capita

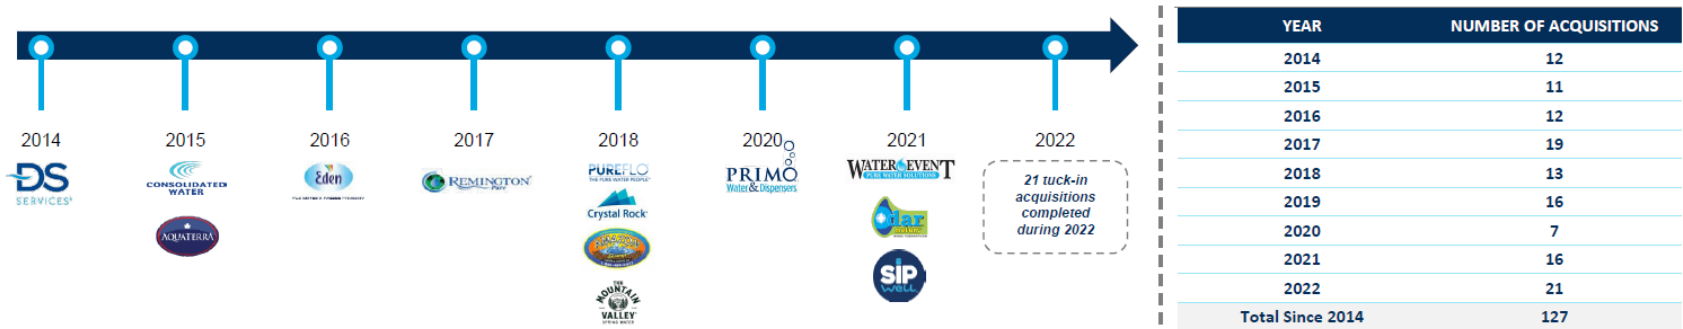

However, as we show on the next slides, the growing end market hasn't translated into any significant growth of any of Primo's customer or location metrics

Source: Company Presentation dated January 9, 2023, Beverage Marketing Corporation

Roll Up or Cover Up?

Primo has executed over 120 tuck-in acquisitions since 2014 and over 70 since 2018, and we estimate that Primo has spent around $220 million on tuck-in acquisitions since 2018

Proven Inorganic Growth Strategy with Multiple Remaining Levers

“Tuck-in mergers and acquisitions are part of our DNA. The acquisitions build scale, acquire innovation, and expand geographies. We will continue to fund highly accretive tuck-in acquisitions, which totaled between $40 million to $60 million annually in our key geographies of North America and Europe. These deals averaged $3 million to $3.5 million and are highly accretive, as we target a post-synergized multiple of approximately 3x EBITDA in North America and roughly 4x in Europe. Our tuck-in M&A is predominantly customer list acquisitions, with most of our synergies coming from the combination of delivery routes with our own increased route density as well as back office consolidation. Another important attribute to these deals is the relative stickiness of the acquired seasoned customer base.”

– Thomas J. Harrington – PRMW CEO & President, 11/17/2021

However, as we show on the next slide, despite these acquisitions, Primo has net organic customer loss

Primo Water Direct Has Lost As Many Customers As Acquired

Tuck-in acquisitions have resulted in zero customer growth

Primo Water Direct – Illustrative Organic Customer Loss

Source: SEC Filings, Company Presentations, Legion Partners' Estimates
 Note: 1. Assumes 4x acquisition multiple, 18% EBITDA margin, and $600 revenue per customer year

Little Progress Has Been Made on Location Growth

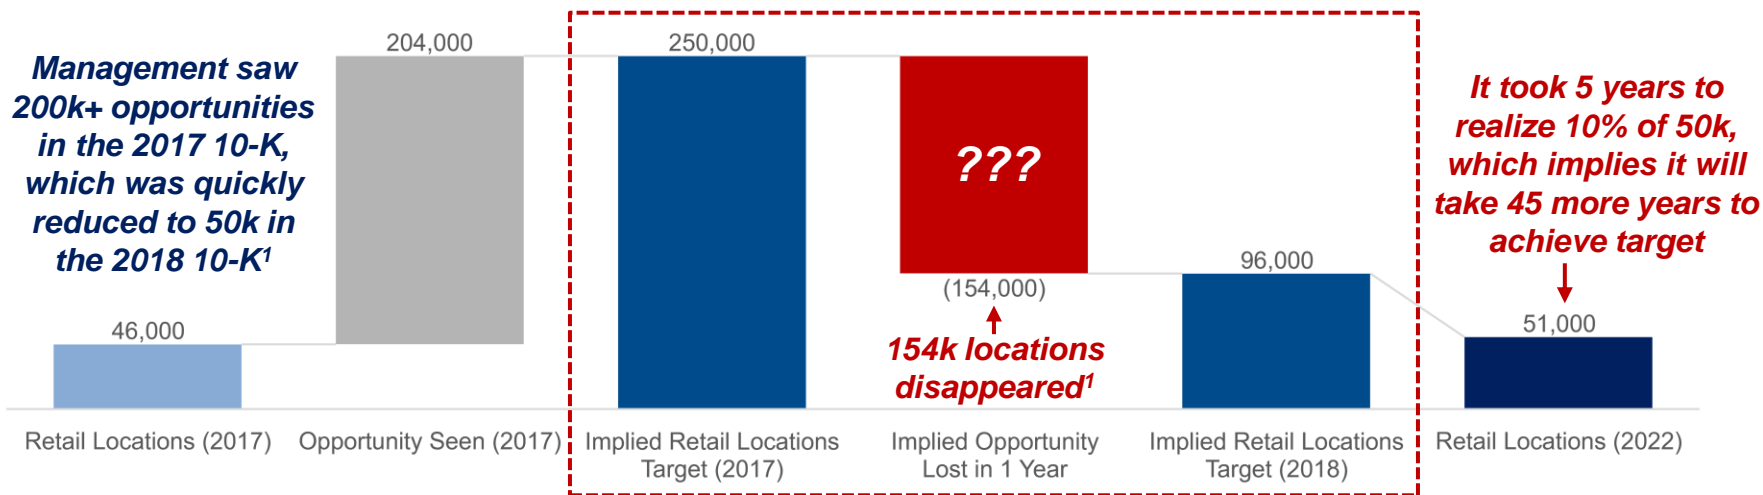

Growth opportunities seemed to have disappeared – we believe this is because management lacks the ability to sell and not because there are a lack of great location targets

At the time of Legacy Primo acquisition: “...we think there is significant customer location upside with a very disciplined, well-executed plan.”

– Thomas J. Harrington – PRMW CEO & President, 01/13/2020

Current Retail Locations – 51,000

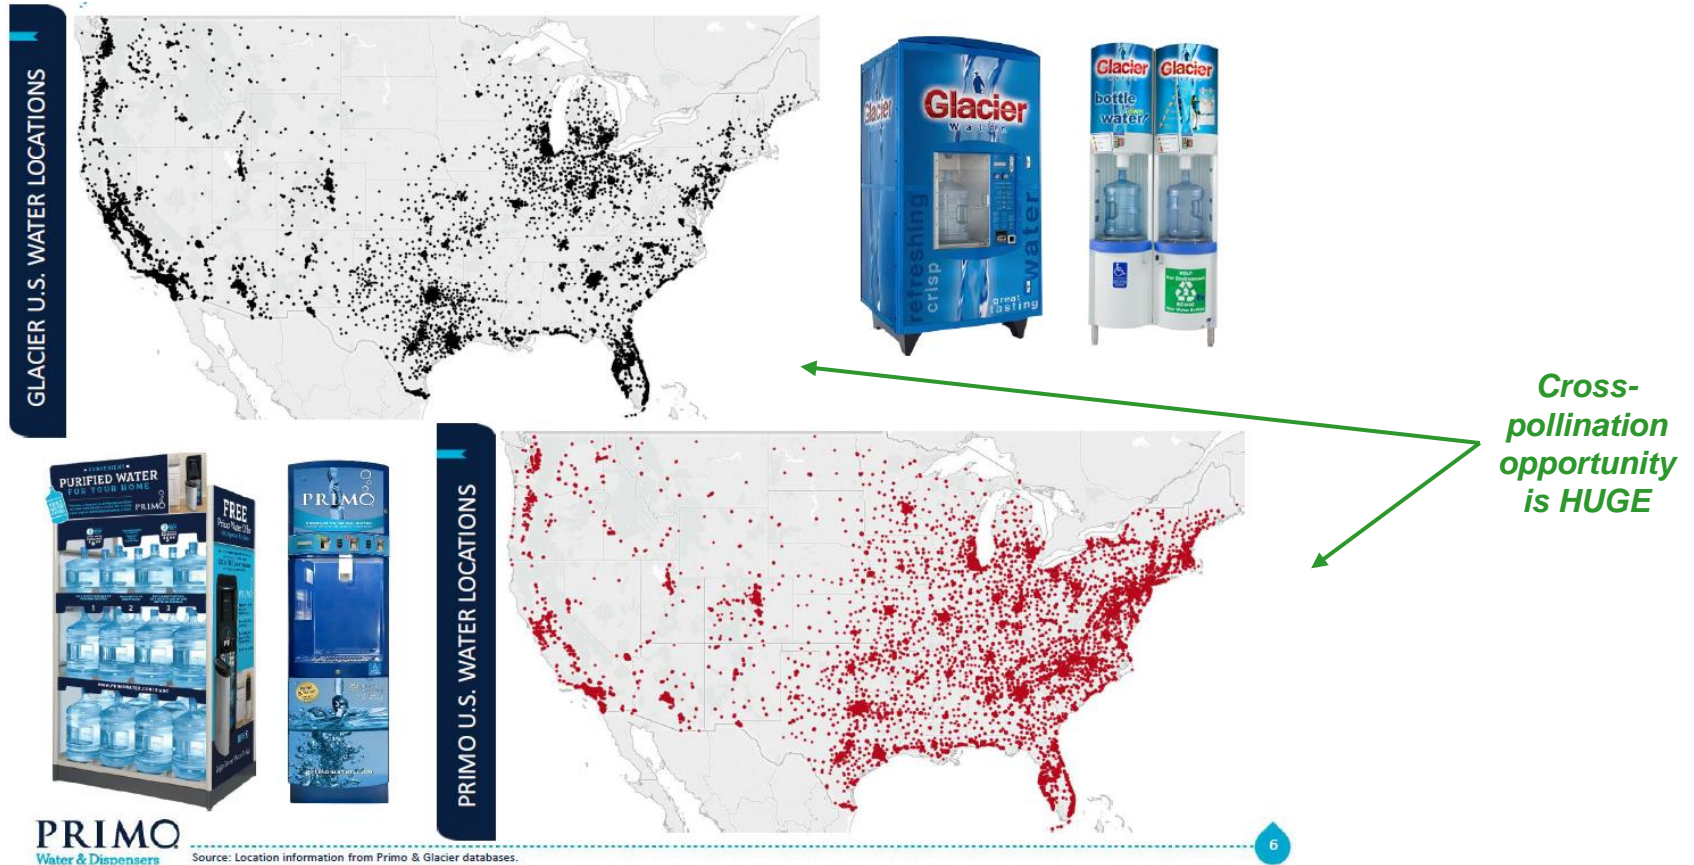

Source: SEC Filings, Company Presentations

Note: 1. 2017 10-K noted that “there are over 250,000 major retail locations throughout the United States and Canada that we can target to sell our Refill, Exchange or Dispensers products”, which implied 200k+ additional retail locations as Primo had 46k locations in 2017, while the 2018 10-K noted that “there are over 50,000 additional major retail locations throughout the United States and Canada that we can target to sell our Refill, Exchange and Dispensers products”. Effectively 150k locations disappeared in one year.

Primo Has Not Achieved the Acquisition Promise

Primo has made little progress cross pollinating Water Exchange and Refill locations

“Glacier has broad placements throughout U.S. and within Canada. It is important to note that there is little to no overlap of Primo Refill placements at the same retail location, creating a fully complementary acquisition.”

– Billy Prim, Legacy Primo CEO & President, 1/9/2017

Broken Customer Service Leads to High Attrition

Primo needs to focus on addressing a flood of customer complaints

Direct

“Nothing in PRIMO works. They would deliver the water to my front door, back door. etc. Never pick up the empties... I have 12 5-gallon water bottles, empty with $5.00 deposit on each...$60.00 of deposits would have covered my last bill with this horrible company”

– 2/2/2023

“I was supposed to have a delivery the day before Thanksgiving, and the driver texted me to ask if I needed water because he would be late...! never got the delivery...🙄 And how professional is it to have ununiformed drivers in unmarked delivery trucks, calling and texting customers directly (so they can conveniently skip deliveries)?”

– 11/24/2022

Exchange

“...unfortunately we cannot find a working machine to exchange our 13 empty 5 gallon water jugs. What is the point of buying your products when we are not able to recycle and return the empty water jugs...”

– 2/10/2023

Refill

“If you buy a dispenser and try to refill the big bottle that you pay a deposit on they are almost always out of water at their retail partners like Lowes and Walmart.”

– 2/9/2023

CONFIDENTIAL & PROPRIETARY

2a. Marketing department has essentially been terminated

Marketing Department Has Significant Recent Turnover

At least half of the marketing department has left Primo since early 2022, leaving the organization with a significant capability void

We believe Primo needs to build a functioning marketing team ASAP

It Appears the High-Profile COO Hire Did Not Go Well

Cate Gutowski
Former PRMW COO
10/27/2021 – 1/20/2023

“We think this is an interesting hire for PRMW given Ms. Gutowski’s experience (most of PRMW leadership are legacy Cott/DS/Primo) and likely signals a desire to accelerate digital penetration of the business, as well as further evidence of PRMW’s pivot to a growth-oriented pure-play water company”

– JPMorgan, 9/30/2021

“The digital world moves fast. Fortunately, we are ready to move with it. Cate Gutowski has joined our team as Chief Operating Officer after spending several years in sales and operational roles with several companies, most recently with Amazon Web Services. Cate and her team will be focused on providing our customers with a best-in-class digital experience.”

– Thomas J. Harrington, PRMW CEO & President, 11/17/2022

On January 20, 2023, Cate Gutowski resigned from her position as the Company’s Chief Operating Officer, effective immediately. Ms. Gutowski will remain with the Company in an advisory capacity through July 1, 2023 (the “Departure Date”). As part of a Separation Agreement and General Release entered into with the Company, the Company will not seek reimbursement of relocation expenses of approximately $600,000. In addition, the Company’s Human Resources and Compensation Committee has determined to accelerate the vesting of 136,335 restricted share units on the Departure Date, representing the unvested portion of the restricted share units that were granted to Ms. Gutowski in October 2021.

Cate Gutowski’s resignation message was buried in the last paragraph in Primo’s announcement of appointing David Hass as its new CFO

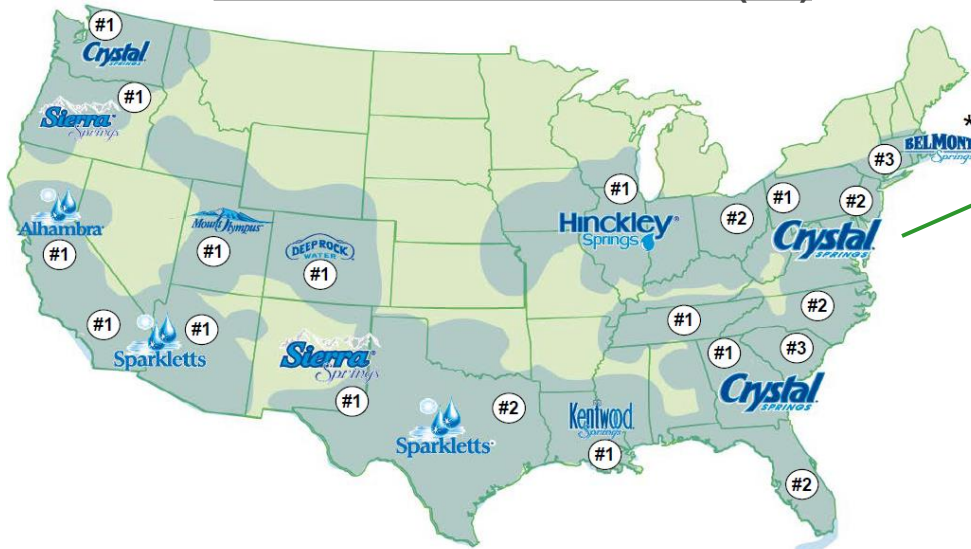

Both Primo and the sell-side had high expectations of COO hire in late 2021 with a focus on digital – her departure in under 2 years suggests digital efforts have stalled

2b. Brand strategy lacks focus and efficiency

Multi-Brand Strategy Seems Problematic

We struggle to understand why Primo chooses to keep all 15+ water delivery brands (with less than a handful of marketing people) – we believe consolidating under core brands should improve marketing efficiency and effectiveness

Primo Brand Market Position (US)

Core Brands

Non-Core Brands

Cons of having multiple brands:

- ✗ It lowers brand marketing budget for each individual brand and/or increases the total budget
- ✗ It distracts human capital and technology resources and/or duplicates these functions
- ✗ It ultimately hurts the effectiveness and efficiency in marketing

Primo consolidated water refill under one Primo brand, “to more effectively and efficiently focus our brand building and marketing efforts¹” – why is Water Direct different?

2c. App and digital marketing are broken

We Find the Sudden Jump in App Ratings Suspicious

We are deeply concerned that the jump in ratings was not a result of customer satisfaction improvement, but potentially a disingenuous artificial inflation

My Water+ App

My Water+ App Store Ratings & # of Ratings

1st Reset

Repeated a downward trend to 1.8

2nd Reset

Jumped to 4.9
Jumped to 15k

Both App Store and Google Play allow a rating reset when a new version is released – we question whether Primo took advantage of this

My Water+ App user shares similar doubt on jump in ratings

Mr_Buenrostro, 01/17/2023

NOT A 4.9 STAR APP!

I'm not sure where all these 5 star reviews are coming from. Probably bought all of them because this app is NOT a 4.9 star app. It NEVER works I always get the error message "Please try again in a few minutes. Contact customer support if the problem persists". Well let me tell you Primo water customer "support" does NOT help. It's 2023 and you guys can't get it together! A company that's doing business in 2023 should have a WORKING, FUNCTIONAL app or should really reconsider shutting down.

Primo Water’s Facebook and Instagram accounts have minimal engagement despite having many followers, suggesting that Primo may have purchased fake followers to artificially boost their social media status and misrepresent its true influence

3. Capital expenditures have ballooned over time

CapEx Guidance Has Significantly Increased

Primo's CapEx guidance revealed in November 2021 was substantially higher compared to the post-COVID guidance published in August 2020

	Revenue Growth & CapEx Guidance
	August 2020	November 2021
Annual Revenue Growth %	5.0%	8.0% (High single-digit)
Implied 5Y Avg. Revenue ($m)	$2,267 (2021-2025)	$2,627 (2022-2026)
Implied 5Y Avg. CapEx ($m)	$123	$213
Avg. CapEx % of Revenue	5.4%	8.1%

Investors were caught off guard by the ~75% CapEx increase in November 2021

“Investor Feedback Post Analyst Day...Negatives: The only area we have picked up in our discussions was PRMW's higher than expected capital investment over the next few years to drive the company's growth agenda, which will consequently result in lower near-term FCF / share buybacks in our model.”

– Jefferies, 12/3/2021

Source: SEC Filings, Company Presentations, Legion Partners' Estimates

Note: For the August 2020 guidance, 5Y Avg. Revenue is calculated by growing 2020 reported revenue of $1,954m by 5% guided growth annually, and 5Y Avg. CapEx is calculated as the average of guidance range of $120-125m. For the November 2021 guidance, 5Y Avg. Revenue is calculated by growing 2021 reported revenue of $2,073m by 8% guided growth (high single-digit) annually, and 5Y Avg. CapEx is calculated as the average of 5Y CapEx, assuming 7% CapEx as a percentage of revenue each year plus $50m extra CapEx for the first 3 years per guidance

CapEx for 2022 and 2023E is Bloated and Unfocused

Primo spent an extra $50 million in 2022 and plans an incremental $30mm in 2023 and 2024 – for projects that have not been well articulated to investors

	2022 and 2023 CapEx
	2022 Actual	2023 Projection (Mid-point)
Revenue ($m)	$2,215	$2,325
CapEx ($m)	$208	$200
CapEx % of Revenue	9.4%	8.6%

The significant increase in CapEx is comprised of a laundry list of pet projects

No return metrics on these investments have been disclosed – despite repeated requests for this information

And key initiatives were poorly defined: →

- No timing outlined
- No spending budget or initiative
- No data on expected project returns

Key initiatives outlined on 2021 Investor Day:

- Drive digital growth
- Dispenser growth through innovation
- Build more efficient delivery & service fleet
- Invest in efficient water production lines to reduce water use and increase productivity
- Drive growth in Primo Fresh (Refill & On The Go) and new filtration innovations like BIBO

Rationalizing SG&A appears to offer significant opportunities

Source: SEC Filings, Legion Partners' Estimates

Note: Legion Partners adjusted PRMW calculations by removing 85% of Depreciation & Amortization ("D&A") from Cost of Sales ("COS"), and removing 15% of D&A from SG&A. Legion Partners also removed $537 million of Shipping & Handling expenses recorded in SG&A and added it to COS. These adjustments were required to make PRMW results compared to peers in the above analysis.

5. ROIC indicates prolonged value destruction

The 2024 12% ROIC Promise Has Evaporated

The 12% ROIC target for fiscal 2024 debuted on the November 2021 Investor Day

Organic Growth Outlook

However, in the January 2023 ICR Presentation, the 12% 2024 ROIC target became part of a “Long-Term Growth Algorithm Outlook” without a specific year

Has Primo Realized It's Impossible to Achieve 12% by 2024?

Primo's ROIC has been particularly poor for years and not once exceeded its WACC, which we calculate at 7%¹

($mm)	Fiscal Year
	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	...	2024
Net Sales	$1,791	$1,795	$1,954	$2,073	$2,215		$2,471
Gross Profit	$1,024	$1,061	$1,114	$1,157	$1,293		$1,492
Gross Margin %	57.2%	59.1%	57.0%	55.8%	58.4%		60.4%
SG&A	$955	$962	$1,007	$1,034	$1,151		$1,238
% of Net Sales	53.3%	53.6%	51.5%	49.9%	52.0%		50.1%
NOPAT²	$106	$123	$133	$147	$163		$234
Average Invested Capital	$2,449	$2,355	$2,535	$2,728	$2,713		$2,680
ROIC³	4.3%	5.2%	5.3%	5.4%	6.0%		8.7%

We believe Primo needs to shrink capital base by almost 30% to reach ROIC of 12% in 2024

Primo is deploying over $200m of shareowner capital annually for both capital expenditures and acquisitions, all of which continue to generate an unacceptably low level of return

Source: SEC Filings, Company Presentations, Capital IQ, Kroll Valuation Handbook and Cost Of Capital Navigator, Legion Partners' Estimates
 Note: 1. Weighted Average Cost of Capital ("WACC") = (Equity Value/Total Value of Capital x Cost of Equity + ((Debt Value/Total Value of Capital x Cost of Debt) x (1-Tax Rate))). Assumes Tax Rate of 25%. 2. Net Operating Profit After Tax ("NOPAT") = Gross Profit – SG&A – Loss on Disposal of PP&E + Amortization Expense – Tax Expense. Assumes consistent tax rate of 25%. 3. ROIC is defined as: ROIC = NOPAT / Average Net Debt & Shareholders Equity.

6. Operational metrics need significant improvement

Primo Has a History of Publishing Confusing Charts

Primo has repeatedly provided graphs that are unintelligible and misleading

Primo Has Avoided Reporting Key Operational Metrics

Primo offers few KPIs on an inconsistent basis, fewer than legacy businesses – we see big room for improvement

7. ESG and DEI miss an ocean of opportunities

Primo Should Focus More on ESG and DEI Efforts

Upgrades in ESG and DEI efforts should offer huge opportunities for Primo if execution improves and story matches promises

ESG Initiatives Have Not Produced Much Benefit

- Primo spends millions of dollars annually on carbon offsets to achieve carbon neutrality, but has given minimal efforts to achieve the status organically
 - Primo should apply best practices from European operations in North America, such as sourcing 100% renewable energy
 - Primo should migrate its fleet from traditional diesel to renewable diesel and electricity
- Primo should leverage its ESG stance to secure green financing that would support sustainable projects and potentially lower financing costs at the same time

DEI Initiatives Are Way Behind

- No target to increase diverse representation in management roles when diverse employees account for more than 50% of the workforce¹
- No target to increase diverse supplier penetration
- Gender diversity has been declining – only 15% of workforce is female¹
- Primo has under leveraged its position to help communities following natural disasters and chemicals / oil leaks, and educate the public on municipal water quality issues

Primo Needs to Better Communicate the ESG and DEI Story

- ESG goals and initiatives are barely communicated to investors or consumers
- The last ESG report was for 2020 – it's 2023 now and Primo should catch up on reporting
- Primo should set concrete DEI goals and play a visible community role
- Primo should refine its ESG and DEI positioning as investors, analysts and customers are all seeking positive ESG and DEI stories

Pattern of Lowering LTIP Target is Alarming

We were shocked to discover that Primo has revised its LTIP Adj. Pre-Tax Income target downwards significantly for divestitures every year over the past 6 years, BUT has not once adjusted the target upwards for major acquisitions that cost over $1.7 billion over the same period

$600m+ of targets were wrongly cut over 6 years

Mgmt. should have earned ZERO payout in 4 of 6 years

Primo's flawed target revision tactics have allowed 171% of average annual payout

Source: SEC Filings, Legion Partners' Estimates
Note: Please refer to appendix for Legion estimated target and payout calculations

Net Customer Growth Was A Legacy Metric

Primo dumped any measure of net customer count additions, which is a key business metric, after finding difficulty in achieving any tangible success on this measure

Note: 1. DSS Group, Inc. (“DSS”), a national direct-to-consumer provider of bottled water, office coffee and water filtration services, was acquired by PRMW (then Cott) in 2014 for $1.25B. 2. PRMW defines “Net cooler rental activity” as net new cooler rental customers, or total cooler rental customer additions for the year less total cooler rental customers who terminated service in the year

Better to Be a PRMW Director Than a Shareholder

PRMW Directors' base compensation rocketed by 96% from 2009 to 2022, while the Company's Earnings Per Share¹ crashed 83% from $1.08 in 2009 to $0.18 in 2022

Base Director Compensation (in '000) vs. PRMW Diluted EPS

What happened in 2009?

- Eric Rosenfeld and Greg Monahan's 1st full year on Board²
- Jeremy Fowden was appointed as CEO in February

Source: SEC Filings, Legion Partners' Estimates

Note: 1. Diluted earnings per share for continuing operations as reported by PRMW. 2. Eric Rosenfeld and Greg Monahan were appointed to the PRMW (then Cott) Board on 6/18/2008 as part of Crescendo's settlement agreement with Cott. Eric Rosenfeld was appointed as Lead Independent Director at the same time.

Board Has Weaponized Its Bylaws to Entrench Itself

- On November 8, 2022, the Board adopted its most recent iteration of the Bylaws, without shareowner approval, which contain an aggressive form of US-style advance notice provisions, including requiring the completion by nominees of the Company's form of questionnaire
 - Bylaws reinstated advance notice provisions the Company removed in the previous year to address objections from institutional shareholders and ISS
 - Canadian law requires shareowner approval of all bylaw amendments
 - However, the Board made the bylaws immediately effective, to be weaponized by the Board until they are voted upon at the 2023 AGM
- On March 16, 2023, Primo rejects Legion's nomination entirely, claiming material omissions in certain director questionnaires. Primo suggests Legion withdraw entire nomination or Primo would make omissions public which could be "publicly embarrassing" for certain of the Legion Nominees' as well as for Legion
 - Primo asserts Mr. Jelert's questionnaire failed to disclose that he was arrested and tried in Poland on attempted bribery, which date back to the 1990s. Mr. Jelert was acquitted multiple times on such charges and has openly spoken about this matter, including in an interview with a leading Danish financial media outlet. Mr. Jelert did not believe this incident was covered by any question in the questionnaire and also notes he was the unfortunate victim in a country where at the time, there were unclear lines between political power and the legal system
 - Primo asserts Ms. Marcus' questionnaire failed to disclose a lawsuit where she is named as a defendant in her capacity as a director of a public company. Ms. Marcus' omission was inadvertent and not material, as she is not the direct subject of the lawsuit and was not even on the board when the lawsuit was filed
 - For both Mr. Jelert and Ms. Marcus – neither Canadian nor U.S. proxy disclosure rules requires the disclosure of the information at issue
- Importantly, Primo contends that its 14a-19 universal proxy card deadline has accelerated the deadline otherwise set forth in its bylaws for shareowner nominations
 - Bylaws expressly include an entire section – "Timely Notice" – providing for an April 3, 2023 deadline to comply with the advance notice bylaw requirements
 - By accelerating the nomination deadline to March 13, 2023, Primo claims Legion has no ability to correct the purported deficiencies in Legion's nomination notice, which if accepted, would prevent Primo from invalidating Legion's nomination

The Incumbent Board is Misaligned with Shareholders

Board Chairman, Lead Independent Director and other long-tenured directors sold stock totaling $12.4 million within 20 days of announcing targeted 2024 Adjusted EBITDA on November 4, 2021 – the average selling price of $18.70 was near PRMW's highest price since 2005

We believe these stock sales speak volumes and demonstrate a lack of conviction and confidence in Primo's long-range plans – the Board is clearly misaligned with shareholders

Chairman of the Board – Jeremy Fowden – Richly Rewarded for Horrendous Performance

As CEO, Jeremy Fowden presided over a failed soft drink and juice strategy, and collected over $47m for these efforts – why he remains on the Board and its Chairman is a total mystery

Jeremy Fowden
Chairman

Former PRMW CEO

14 years on BoD

Ownership 0.8%

- Fowden has been richly rewarded as an executive from 2008-2019
 - Total compensation: $47.2 million
 - Oversaw Primo's failed strategy in soft drinks and fruit juice
- Fowden has continued to cash in as Chairman
 - For 2019 to 2022 he has collected another $1 million in fees
- Primo's earnings power during Fowden's CEO tenure significantly declined
 - Primo diluted EPS 2009 $1.08
 - Primo diluted EPS 2018 $0.11 (decline of 90%)
 - Cumulative diluted EPS 2009 – 2018: $2.49 (43% occurred in 2008)
- Primo's shareholders have suffered significantly under Fowden's board tenure
 - Primo has incurred $440mm of write-downs, impairments, settlements and other charges during Fowden's tenure on the PRMW Board (2009 – 2022)
 - PRMW's results have been so poor that total income taxes paid over Fowden's 14 year tenure have been a negative $54 million – Primo in total has paid no taxes
- Fowden's open market stock sales indicate a lack of conviction in Primo's upside
 - Over last two years, Fowden has sold stock on 32 days
 - Stock sales of over $33.3 million

Billy Prim – Led Legacy Primo’s Poor Performance

Billy Prim undermanaged Legacy Primo and the stock price under his watch was lackluster at best – we believe he sold Legacy Primo to avoid accountability for his performance

Billy Prim
Director

Former Legacy Primo CEO

3 / 18¹ years on BoD

Ownership 0.7%

- Prim served as CEO of Legacy Primo
 - From founding Legacy Primo in 2004 until 2017
 - Prim served as Executive Chairman from 2017 to 2020
 - Prim served as CEO again from 2019 to 2020
- Legacy Primo was not a financial success
 - The company struggled to show profitability
 - From 2007 to 2019 – Legacy Primo produced positive net income in two years
 - The positive net income in those two years amounted to less than $5 million
 - Primo’s IPO was at $12 per share in 2010 – in 2020, Primo was acquired for $14 per share in a transaction that appeared to significantly undervalue the shares
- Legacy Primo was operationally weak under Prim’s leadership
 - Location growth had been a huge struggle for years showed little sign of improving
 - Refill machines often had uptime issues as Primo struggled to properly maintain them
- Legacy Primo was likely sold in a rush to avoid accountability
 - Legion publicly outlined its case for change at Legacy Primo in September 2019
 - During November and December 2019, Legion worked to negotiate a settlement agreement with Primo to refresh its board, but was not able to reach an agreement
 - Legacy Primo was acquired by Cott in January 2020 – we believe it was sold at a significant discount to its intrinsic value in a rush to avoid a proxy fight with Legion

Eric Rosenfeld – An Ineffective Lead Independent Director

Eric Rosenfeld joined Primo's Board at a time when his fund owned a significant stake in Primo – that stake was wound down over a decade ago and yet shareholders are still stuck with him

Eric Rosenfeld
Lead Independent Director

Crescendo Partners

15 years on BoD

Ownership 0.2%

- Rosenfeld originally joined the Board as part of Crescendo Partners' activist campaign in June 2008
 - At the time, Crescendo owned 8.3% and negotiated 4 board seats
 - Within several years of winning seats at Primo, Crescendo's assets under management plummeted to less than $5 million by September 2012
 - In the process of its funds significantly declining in value, Crescendo decided to distribute the majority of its Primo holdings in May 2011
 - Notwithstanding the significant drop in Crescendo's ownership, Rosenfeld has continued as Primo's Lead Independent Director and Chair of the ESG and Nominating Committee
 - Recent board addition under Rosenfeld's supervision have not resulted in meaningful value to shareholders
- Rosenfeld has collected significant compensation for PRMW Board service
 - Total compensation received from 2008 to 2022 totaled $3.3 million
 - Mr. Rosenfeld's annual board fee has increased by 93% since 2008
 - From 2007 to 2022, PRMW's revenues have increased a total of 25%
- While Rosenfeld owns 309,294 shares of PRMW stock, his annual returns are far in excess of any normal shareholder
 - Value 309,294 shares @ $14.22 – $4.4 million
 - Dividends $99k per year (at $0.32/share)
 - Current annual board fees: $305k
 - Eric Rosenfeld's annual cash return 9.2%

Greg Monahan – Another Board Fee Collecting Machine

Greg Monahan has received over $2.8m in board fees since joining Primo's Board, and was oddly awarded extra "special fees" for overseeing acquisitions on several occasions

Greg Monahan
Director

Crescendo Partners

15 years on BoD

Ownership 0.07%

- Monahan was added to the Board with Eric Rosenfeld in 2008 in connection with Crescendo's activist campaign
 - Notwithstanding the significant drop in Crescendo's ownership in 2011, Monahan remains on the board
- Monahan has collected significant compensation for PRMW Board service
 - Total compensation received from 2008 to 2022 totaled $2.8 million
 - Mr. Monahan's annual board fee has increased by 93% since 2008

Primo's Customer Service Is Broken

We believe Primo is plagued by poor customer service and this likely drives substandard customer satisfaction and ultimately low retention

Customers who wanted water delivery couldn't get delivery...

"I have not received water service since December 2022. I contacted customer service on multiple occasions when they missed my first delivery on January 20, 2023. They rescheduled it to January 27, 2023 and no one came. They have continued to reschedule and I have still not received the service. I requested a call back from the route supervisor, area supervisor, regional supervisor and no one has called or shared the reason for the delivery delays."

– Water Direct Complaint, 2/27/2023

Customers who wanted to cancel service couldn't get cancellation...

"Our company has attempted to cancel our service with Primo water 6 times since the start of 2023. We have called and scheduled for them to pick up our rental supplies on 6 occasions as well...Each time we are promised our service is cancelled and a new pickup date is scheduled, but a driver never shows up to collect and we continue to be charged by Primo Water. When I ask for a cancellation confirmation email, their computer always conveniently stop working and they promise to sent the cancellation email later, but it never arrives. Not only are they charging us for a service we have tried to cancel for over a month, but they are wasting our time at work trying to get in contact with them."

– Water Direct Complaint, 2/20/2023

Customers who trusted Primo water faced ongoing quality issues...

"Primo water corporation is not changing out the filters in their machines. The pH of the water as advertised is supposed to be between 6.5 to 7.0 instead their pH is coming out at over 7.5 and upwards of 9 at other locations. This proves the filters are not being changed out....The worst part is that I've called them about this before and its still happening."

– Water Refill Complaint, 2/25/2023

Primo's Own Analysis Explains Its High Attrition

The Customer Experience (CX) imperative...

The Risk

Of customers with a SINGLE bad experience with a company:

- 95% took an action
- 82% stopped business
- 80% shared the experience

“Worst company ever. Only lasted 1 month as a customer. They gave me a defective k cup brewing dispenser and the hot water didn't work. I called you guys 5 times to replace the dispenser and you lied saying they were on their way. I canceled my service and now they expect me to pay for 10 gal of water delivered to me. 10 gal of unused water which I shouldn't be paying.”

– 11/22/2022

Primo has always reported adjusted customer retention rates that exclude the impact of customers that terminated service in the first year they started the service – we believe this reporting practice is likely designed to prevent outsiders from understanding the real attrition in the business

Primo needs begin delighting customers to improve retention and brand image
