Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2004

Note 1 Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, page F-8

(o) Concentration of Credit Risk, page F-11

1. We note from your response to our comment 2 and from your disclosure in your Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 2005 that you had accounts receivable from a single customer comprising approximately 49% and 61% of total assets at December 31, 2004 and June 30, 2005, respectively. In view of this credit concentration the audited financial statements of this significant customer should be included in your Form 10-K and summarized quarterly financial information related to this customer should be included in your quarterly reports on Form 10-Q. Refer to the analogous guidance in SAB 71.

We urge all persons who are responsible for the accuracy and adequacy of the disclosure in the filing to be certain that the filing includes all information required under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and that they have provided all information investors require for an informed investment decision. - the company is responsible for the adequacy and accuracy of the disclosure in the filing;
- staff comments or changes to disclosure in response to staff comments do not foreclose the Commission from taking any action with respect to the filing; and
- the company may not assert staff comments as a defense in any proceeding initiated by the Commission or any person under the federal securities laws of the United States.
