Form 10-K for the Fiscal Year Ended December 31, 2005

Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Critical Accounting Policies

Loss and Loss Expense Reserves, page 28

1. We believe your disclosure in the Critical Accounting Estimates section of MD&A regarding the estimation of the reserve for loss and loss adjustment expenses could be improved to better explain the judgments and uncertainties surrounding this estimate and the potential impact on your financial statements. We believe in order to meet the principal objectives of MD&A this disclosure should enable the investor to understand 1) management's method for establishing the estimate; 2) whether and if so to what extent and why management has adjusted their assumptions used to determine the estimate from the assumptions used in the immediately preceding period and 3) the potential variability in the most recent estimate and the impact this variability may have on reported results, financial condition and liquidity. Please keep these points in mind in providing us your responses to comments listed below. Please provide us, in disclosure-type format, the following information for each material line of business and also consider providing any additional information, in disclosure-type format, to achieve this objective.

- a. Please disclose the amount of the reserve for loss and loss adjustment expense for each year presented.
- b. Please describe the methods you used to determine your reserve for loss and loss adjustment expense. Please ensure this description:
 1. Explains how the methods you use for your short-tail business differ from the methods you use for your long-tail business.
 2. Identifies the unique development characteristics of each material short-tail and long-tail line of business
 3. Describes the method you use to calculate the IBNR reserve for each material line of business. For example, we understand that some companies may calculate this reserve by estimating the ultimate unpaid liability first and then reducing that amount by cumulative paid claims and by case reserves, but there may be other methods as well.
 4. Describes the extent of your procedures for determining the reserve for loss and loss adjustment expense on both an annual and interim reporting basis.
- c. On page 21 you disclose that you believe it is important to have a high degree of conservatism in your reserving process. If management has added an incremental provision to the reserve for loss and loss adjustment expense determined by your actuaries, quantify the incremental provision, describe the method used by management to determine it and the extent to which that method differs from period to period, and identify and analyze the specific underlying reasons that explain why management believes it is necessary.
- d. It appears that you have significantly revised your provision for losses of insured events of prior years. We note your table on page 5 discloses a breakdown of the $13.7 million prior year claim development during 2005. It appears this loss development disclosure would be more meaningful based on your lines of business instead of types of insurance. In addition, please quantify and explain the reasons for your change in estimate for Losses and Loss Expense by line of business:
 1. Identify and describe in reasonable specificity the nature and extent of a) new events that occurred or b) additional experience/information obtained since the last reporting date that led to the change in estimates.

2. Ensure your disclosure clarifies the timing of the change in estimate such as why recognition occurred in the periods that it did and why recognition in earlier periods was not required.
 - e. Please identify and describe those key assumptions that materially affect the estimate of the reserve for loss and loss adjustment expenses. In addition please disclose the following:
 1. For each of your key assumptions quantify and explain what caused them to change from the assumptions used in the immediately preceding period. Please note that this discussion should supplement, rather than duplicate the disclosure provided responsive to Industry Guide 6.
 2. Explicitly identify and discuss key assumptions as of December 31, 2005 that are premised on future emergence that are inconsistent with historical loss reserve development patterns and explain why these assumptions are now appropriate given the inconsistency identified.
 - f. In order to show investors the potential variability in the most recent estimate of your loss reserve, quantify and present preferably in a tabular format the impact that reasonably likely changes in the key assumptions identified may have on reported results, financial position and liquidity. Explain why management believes the scenarios quantified are reasonably likely.
2. Please discuss and quantify the effect that your ceded reinsurance activities had on financial position, results of operations, and cash flows for the periods presented. Also discuss changes you have made to your past reinsurance strategies in developing your current strategies and the expected effect that those changes may have on your financial position, results of operations and cash flows. Describe any limitations on your ability to cede future losses on a basis consistent with historical results and their expected effect on financial position, operating results and cash flows. Such limitations could relate to changes in reinsurance market conditions, a restructuring of your reinsurance treaties or the absence of remaining limits for specific accident years under existing treaties.
