News Release

SingTel Mobile and NTT DoCoMo sign 3G cooperation agreement

Network inter-operability and common 3G services to be explored

Singapore, 22 April 2003 – SingTel Mobile and NTT DoCoMo, Inc. (DoCoMo) today announced an agreement to jointly explore and develop 3G technology and multimedia services based on the W-CDMA¹ standard. The agreement also extends to collaborative efforts in other areas of mobile communications such as wireless LAN.

Mr Lucas Chow, Chief Executive Officer of SingTel Mobile and Executive Vice President (Consumer Business) of SingTel, hailed the signing of the agreement as a landmark for regional mobile communications.

“This is an important development for both SingTel Mobile and DoCoMo as we team up to facilitate the growth of 3G services in Asia. The collaboration will help us take a step towards addressing some of the key concerns regarding 3G such as evolving common standards, roaming issues and compatibility of handsets,” said Mr Chow.

Dr Keiji Tachikawa, President and CEO of NTT DoCoMo, said: “We are extremely pleased to be collaborating with SingTel Mobile, Asia’s leading multi-market mobile operator. We believe this partnership will help us expand W-CDMA-based 3G mobile multimedia services in Asia. Inter-operability is key to providing customers with seamless mobile multimedia services anytime, anywhere. This joint initiative will enable DoCoMo and SingTel Mobile to offer our respective customers value-added mobile multimedia services.”

Under the agreement, both operators will aim for inter-operability between their respective 3G networks, thereby enabling the provision of 3G services for roamers between Singapore and Japan.

SingTel Mobile and DoCoMo will share their technological know-how to look into developing a common and compatible suite of 3G multimedia services. These will include video streaming, video conference, location-based services and other applications.

To facilitate this, both operators will seek opportunities for synchronisation of handsets and for enabling an integrated product development environment. Joint studies and an exchange of employees between the two companies are being considered as well.

SingTel and NTT DoCoMo will also jointly explore wireless LAN roaming opportunities including prospects for integrating 3G and wireless LAN services.

SEC File No: 82-3622

Mr Chow said: "We are very excited about this cooperation agreement and the potential benefits it can bring to our respective customers. SingTel Mobile will certainly share its experiences from this collaboration with SingTel Optus in Australia and our mobile associates in the region as well."

For Immediate Release

SingPost launches Initial Public Offering of 1.14 billion shares

IPO set to raise up to S$684 million (excluding over-allotment)

Anticipated net dividend yield of about 7% based on maximum offering price and intended dividend payout of S$0.042 per share for the year ended 31 March 2003

Singapore, 21 April 2003 – Singapore Post Limited (“SingPost”), Singapore’s leading provider of postal services and one of the world’s most efficient and profitable postal operators, will launch the initial public offering (“IPO”) of its shares (“Offering Shares”) tomorrow, 22 April 2003. A prospectus, dated 19 April 2003, relating to the offering (the “Prospectus”) has been registered with the Monetary Authority of Singapore.

The offering of 1.14 billion shares consists of:

- an international placement to investors, including institutional and other investors in Singapore, and
- an offering to the public in Singapore (the “Public Offer”), including up to approximately 19.4 million Reserved Shares that have been reserved for purchase by the Directors, permanent employees of SingPost and its subsidiaries, and others as set out in eligibility criteria in the Prospectus. The minimum size of the Public Offer is 50 million shares.

The international placement and the Public Offer will commence on 22 April 2003 and is expected to close on 6 May 2003. Trading of the SingPost shares on the Mainboard of the Singapore Exchange Securities Trading Limited (“SGX-ST”) on a “ready” basis is expected to commence on 14 May 2003, subject to the SGX-ST being satisfied that all conditions necessary for the commencement of trading in the shares on a "ready" basis have been fulfilled.

The Offering Shares are being sold by Singapore Telecommunications Limited ("SingTel") at the maximum offering price of S$0.60 per share and the offering is subject to pricing. The offering price will be determined following a book-building process by agreement between the Joint Global Coordinators and SingTel on a date currently expected to be 7 May 2003.

Based on the maximum offering price, SingTel will raise gross proceeds of up to S$684 million from the offering (excluding the over-allotment option as defined in the Prospectus). After the offering, SingTel will retain a shareholding of 40% in SingPost (excluding the over-allotment). If the offering price is less than the maximum offering price, the proceeds will be reduced accordingly.

Subject to certain factors set out in the Prospectus, the Directors of SingPost currently intend to recommend a net annual dividend of S$80 million for each of the financial years ended 31 March 2003 and ending 31 March 2004. This is equivalent to approximately S$0.042 per share based on SingPost's existing issued share capital. Based on the maximum offering price of S$0.60 per share, the intended dividend payout of approximately S$0.042 per share for the financial year ended 31 March 2003 translates into an anticipated net dividend yield of approximately 7.0% per share.

Mr Lim Ho Kee, Chairman of SingPost, said, "The launch of the SingPost IPO offers investors an opportunity to invest in a postal operator which we believe is one of the most efficient and profitable in the world. With a heritage dating back to 1819 and a brand that's a household name in Singapore, SingPost touches the lives of virtually all Singaporeans every day. Now, investors in Singapore and around the world can invest in a company with a strong business, world-class operations and an attractive dividend yield.”

Mr William Tan Soo Hock, Chief Executive Officer of SingPost, added, “With an estimated market share of 95% in domestic mail, SingPost holds a dominant position in the attractive Singapore market that continues to grow. SingPost has a proven track record of innovation and best in class operations. The management team is focussed on capitalizing on new opportunities, such as the growth of direct mail, and opportunities for international expansion through our Spring joint venture, which we believe is a market leader in global private cross-border business mail solutions. The result is a company that has delivered in more ways than one.”

Mr Lee Hsien Yang, President & CEO of SingTel, said, “SingTel is selling a portion of its stake in SingPost as part of its on-going strategy of divesting non-core businesses in order to focus on our core telecommunications business. In the current market environment, investors have shown a keen interest in companies, like SingPost, that are profitable with stable performance and an attractive dividend yield. We believe that a separate listing will benefit SingPost in terms of greater autonomy, enhanced visibility and a more diverse shareholder base.”

The launch of the IPO follows the success of SingPost’s recent 10-year S$300 million bond offering, which was two times oversubscribed and achieved one of the lowest coupon rates ever for a Singapore corporate bond offering. Standard & Poor’s Rating Services recently assigned an ‘A+’ long-term rating to SingPost.
