INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Directors
First Security Financial Advisors, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial condition of First Security Financial Advisors, Inc. as of December 31, 2002 and 2001, and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholders' equity, changes in liabilities subordinated to claims of general creditors, and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial condition of First Security Financial Advisors, Inc. at December 31, 2002 and 2001, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The Company received approval for membership in the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. in November 1996. The Company transacts business through correspondent brokers. The Company receives, but does not hold, customer or other broker/dealer securities. Customers' securities transactions and related commission revenues and expenses are recorded on a trade date basis.

The Company adheres to the reporting requirements of the Securities and Exchange Commission under Rule 17a-5 which is consistent with financial statement reporting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Financial Statements

The financial statements and notes are representations of the Company's management, who is responsible for their integrity and objectivity. The accounting policies adopted conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and have been consistently applied in the preparation of the financial statements. Preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires the use of management's estimates. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation is provided in amounts sufficient to relate the cost of assets to operations over their estimated useful lives, ranging from three to five years, using the straight-line method. Software and leasehold improvements are being amortized over three and five years, respectively, using the straight-line method.

Investments

Management determines the appropriate classification of securities at the time of purchase. If management has the intent and the Company has the ability at the time of purchase to hold securities until maturity or on a long-term basis, they are classified as investments and carried at historical cost or amortized cost. Securities to be held for indefinite periods of time and not intended to be held to maturity or on a long-term basis are classified as available for sale and carried at fair value. Securities held for indefinite periods of time include securities management intends to use as a part of its asset and liability management strategy and may be sold in response to changes in interest rates, resultant prepayment risk, and other factors related to interest rate and resultant prepayment risk changes.

Note 2 - Financial Instrument with Off-Balance-Sheet Risk

Financial instruments which potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist of cash. Cash and other deposits are insured up to $100,000. At any given time, the Company may have cash balances exceeding the insured amount.

Note 3 - Deposit with Clearing Organization

Deposit with clearing organization represents investments in money market funds. The investments are required by the Company's clearing brokers and are in accordance with the correspondent broker agreements between the parties.

Note 4 - Income Taxes

The Company's stockholders have elected S-Corporation status for the Company. Under this election, the stockholders, not the Company, are taxed on their proportionate share of the Company's taxable income. Therefore, no provision for federal or state income taxes has been included in the financial statements.

Note 5 - Property and Equipment

Property and equipment consisted of the following at December 31:

	2002			2001
Leasehold improvements	$	24,120	$	24,120

Note 6 - Related Party Transactions

The Company leases office space on a month-to-month basis from an entity in which a majority stockholder of the Company is a significant partner. Rent payments to this entity totaled $23,790 and $14,822, respectively, for the years ended December 31, 2002 and 2001.

At December 31, 2001, the Company had a note receivable of $75,572 due from a stockholder. This note bore interest of 7.0% and is secured by personal property. The original agreement stated the Company receive biweekly payments of principal and interest totaling $1,500 with a final balloon payment due on December 31, 2003. The note was paid in full during the year ended December 31, 2002.

Note 7 – Leases

The Company leases office space pursuant to a five year lease, which expires January 15, 2003. The monthly base rent, including taxes and other expenses, is $3,749. The lease provides for an increase in the base rent equivalent to the change in the Consumer Price Index at the beginning of each year.

Future minimum lease payments for the year ended December 31, 2003 are $5,178.

The Company was reimbursed $1,350 each month by the independent contractors that utilize space in the office. The net rent expense related to this lease amounted to $9,256 and $26,668 for the fiscal years ending December 31, 2002 and 2001, respectively.

Note 8 - Net Capital Requirement

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital of $50,000. The Company had net capital of $105,212 and $74,981, respectively, at December 31, 2002 and 2001. The net capital rules may effectively restrict the payment of dividends to the Company's stockholders. The Company operates pursuant to the (K) (2) (iv) exemptive provisions of the Securities and Exchange Commission's Rule 15c3-3 and can receive, but, not hold, customer funds or securities.

Rule 15c3-1 also requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined by the Rule, shall not exceed eight to one. The Company's ratio was .03 to one at December 31, 2002 and 2001.

Note 9 - Litigation

In the normal course of business the Company has been named as a defendant in a legal action. The outcome of the lawsuit is uncertain at this time, however management expects the ultimate resolution of this matter will not have a material effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5 FOR A BROKER-DEALER CLAIMING AN EXEMPTION FROM SEC RULE 15c3-3

The Board of Directors
First Security Financial Advisors, Inc.

In planning and performing our audits of the financial statements of First Security Financial Advisors, Inc. for the years ended December 31, 2002 and 2001, we considered its internal control structure in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purposes of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

We also made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a) (11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemption provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System because the Company did not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer/securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. The objectives of a system of internal accounting control and the practices and procedures utilized are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal accounting control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with them may deteriorate.

The Board of Directors
First Security Financial Advisors, Inc.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted the following matter involving the control environment and its operation that we consider to be a material weakness as defined above. This condition was considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the procedures to be performed in our audit of the financial statements of First Security Financial Advisors, Inc. for the years ended December 31, 2002 and 2001 and this report does not affect our report thereon dated April 7, 2003.

Segregation of Duties

Due to the limited number of available personnel, it is not always possible to adequately segregate certain incompatible duties, so that no one employee has access to both physical assets and the related accounting records, or to all phases of a transaction. Consequently, the possibility exists that unintentional errors or irregularities could exist and not be properly detected.

Our audits did not reveal any significant errors or irregularities resulting from this lack of segregation of employee duties and responsibilities.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purpose in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002 and 2001, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management of First Security Financial Advisors, Inc. and the Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and should not be used for any other purpose.
