INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Members

Quince Hill Partners, LLC

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Quince Hill Partners, LLC as of December 31, 2002, and the related statements of operations, changes in members' equity and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Quince Hill Partners, LLC as of December 31, 2002, and the results of operations, the changes in members' equity and its cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained in the supplemental information is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplemental information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2002

NOTE A - ORGANIZATION

Quince Hill Partners , LLC, a D.C. Limited Liability Company, (the Company) was formed on December 18, 2001, for the purpose of providing clients with services relating to raising investment funds and for any other lawful business as the Members may from time to time determine. The services provided are for institutional customers. A limited liability company limits the liability of its Members to their investments. The Company operates its broker/dealer business on the fully disclosed basis. For the year ended December 31, 2002, the broker/dealer business accounted for 100% of total revenue.

NOTE B - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Basis of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements are prepared on the accrual basis of accounting. As such, income is recognized in the period earned and expenses are recognized in the period incurred.

Commission Receivables and Bad Debts

Commission Receivables represent commissions due from institutions. Commission Receivables are charged to bad debt expense when they are determined to be uncollectible based upon a periodic review of the accounts by management. Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that the allowance method be used to recognize bad debts; however, the effect of using the direct write-off method is not materially different from the results that would have been obtained under the allowance method.

Income Taxes

As an LLC, the Company incurs no income taxes. The members are taxed on the taxable income of the Company. Therefore, no provision or liability for federal or state income taxes has been included in the financial statements.

NOTE C - NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Uniform Net Capital Rule, Rule 15c3-1, which requires the maintenance of a minimum amount of net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1. Rule 15c3-1 also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1. Under Rule 15c3-1, the Company is required to maintain net capital of not less than $5,000. The Company had net capital of $19,904 at December 31, 2002, which satisfied the net capital requirements. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital was 0.05 to 1 at December 31, 2002.

NOTE D - RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Rental Agreement

The Company entered into a one-year rental agreement on February 1, 2002 with a Member for office space. The agreement provided for monthly rental payments of $1,000 starting on the seventh month of the agreement. Total payments were accrued pro rata over the life of the lease. Rent of $5,500 had been charged to expense and $-0- remained payable as of December 31, 2002.

NOTE E - CONCENTRATION OF RISK

Cash

The Company maintains its cash balances in one bank. The balances in the bank are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) up to $100,000. As of December 31, 2002, there was no uninsured portion of the cash balance.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON INTERNAL ACCOUNTING CONTROL
REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5

Members

Quince Hill Partners, LLC

We have audited the financial statements of Quince Hill Partners, LLC as of December 31, 2002 and for the year then ended, and have issued our report thereon dated January 14, 2003.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Quince Hill Partners, LLC for the year then ended, we considered its internal control in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the basic financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

We also made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control policies and procedures and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the Commission's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph. Because of the inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the internal control and practices and procedures to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control that might be material weakness under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving the internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the third paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulation, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2002 to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the members, management, the Securities Exchange Commission, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specified parties.
