Independent Auditor's Report

To Shareholders and Directors
Century Pacific Securities, Inc.
Formerly known as
L&L Financial Investments Co., Inc
720 3rd Avenue, Suite 1611
Seattle, WA 98104

I have audited the accompanying balance sheets statutory basis of Century Pacific Securities, Inc. (Century) formerly known as L&L Financial Investments Co., Inc. as of December 31, 2004 and 2003 and statements of changes in shareholders' equity, operation and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with the U.S. generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used, and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statements presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

As more fully described in notes to the financial statements, Century is yet in full operation to conduct trading of securities for customers. In my opinion, except for the effects of not yet to operate as a B/D capacity entity to underwriting securities, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Century Pacific Securities, Inc. as of December 31, 2004 and 2003 and the results of its operations and cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with the accounting practices prescribed by the Financial and Operational Combined Uniform Single Report, Form X-17a-5(a) of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission which is a statutory basis of accounting other than the U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Report of Independent Certified Public Accountant on Internal Control Structure Required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission

To the Board of Directors
Century Pacific Securities, Inc.
Seattle, WA 98104

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of Century Pacific Securities, Inc. (f.k.a. L&L Financial Investments Co., Inc) for the years ended December 31, 2004 and 2003, I have taken into consideration the Company's internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements. The audit is not designed to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), I have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of such practices and procedures that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g). I also make the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exempt provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, I did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company: 1) in making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons, or 2) recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 complying with requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8(b) of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedure and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of an internal control structure and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has internal control structure. Responsibilities are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized used or disposition and those transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statement's in conformity with the U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, procedures of any evaluation of them to future periods are subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

My audit would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be considered as material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control does not reduce the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a time by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I am not aware of any matter involving the internal control structure that I consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

I understand that practices and practices that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives, in all material respects, indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on my study, I believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2004 and 2003 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and should not be used for any other purpose.
