Dear Counsel:

I hope all remains well with you and your work.

As you may have learned, the above-referenced case has been re-assigned to me. In order to better understand the status of the case and how I can help you to move it to resolution, I would appreciate receiving from you a joint report that addresses the following questions:

1. What motions are currently pending?
2. Is there a scheduling order in effect?
3. If there is a scheduling order in effect, what are the upcoming deadlines and would you like to keep them? If not, what new deadlines would you like?
4. If there is no scheduling order in effect, would you like the Court to issue one?
5. Was there a trial date scheduled?
6. If so, would you like to reinstate it?
7. If not, would you like the Court to set one?
8. Do you think a hearing or a scheduling conference would be necessary or helpful?
9. Are the parties currently engaged in settlement discussions or are such discussions likely to begin in the near future?
10. Are the parties interested in mediation?

11. Is there anything else that you need from the Court at this time?

Please provide the report, in writing, by no later than Tuesday, February 8, 2005. Depending on the contents of the status report, a conference or hearing may be scheduled.

I look forward to working with you.

Very truly yours,
