APPENDIX A

Introduction

CLC Management, LLC manages client assets in its capacity as the general partner of Global Partners, L.P., an Illinois limited partnership.

CLC may engage in a broad spectrum of trading strategies. CLC currently focuses on trading closed end funds which exhibit historically high or low discounted/premium spreads relative to their net asset value ("NAV"). CLC believes that the dynamic trading of closed end funds for the purpose of taking advantage of historically high or low discount/premium ranges in NAV should provide long term consistent returns with minimal volatility and maximum consistency. CLC analyzes various closed end funds, unit investment trusts and ETFs to determine whether these instruments are trading at either the bottom end of their premium/discount to NAV range for long opportunities or at the top of their NAV range for short opportunities. Once these opportunities are determined, CLC typically researches the assets underlying these investments to determine whether they are fully performing and to determine whether there is an opportunity to hedge out some of the underlying risk.

CLC is not limited to pursuing the strategy described above, and may engage in any investment strategy which it believes is suitable for its clients.

Management Fee and Performance Allocation

CLC collects an annual management fee equal to 1.92% (0.16% monthly) of the each limited partners capital account. CLC also collects a performance fee equal to 20% of the net profits of Global Partners, L.P. at the end of each calendar year and subject to a "high-water mark."

Expenses

Global Partners, L.P. will reimburse CLC for its organizational and initial offering expenses, and the Fund will amortize these expenses over a five year period. Global Partners, L.P. will pay its other operating expenses. These expenses will consist primarily of legal, audit, administrative and continuing offering expenses, and any custodial fees.

It is CLC's practice, where feasible, to aggregate for execution as a single transaction ("batch") orders for the purchase or sale of a particular security for the accounts of several clients having the same brokerage firm as custodian. Similarly, when possible, CLC will aggregate the same transactions in the same securities for many clients for whom CLC has discretion to direct brokerage. Batching may enable CLC to obtain somewhat lower commissions based on the volume of the clients in the particular order. However, in those cases where a client and broker-dealer have previously negotiated a commission rate, CLC is unable to negotiate further volume discounts, thus precluding the client from receiving the benefit of any lower commission that might otherwise be available from the aggregation. The fact that some clients have individually negotiated commission rates with their designated broker-dealer will mean that some clients may pay higher commissions than others in an aggregated order.

Where CLC has the authority to determine the broker or dealer for securities transactions, CLC's objective in selecting brokers and dealers and in effecting portfolio transactions is to seek to obtain the best combination of price and execution with respect to its accounts' portfolio transactions. The best net price, giving effect to brokerage commissions, spreads and other costs, is normally an important factor in this decision, but a number of other judgmental factors are considered as they are deemed relevant.
