Press release

WashTec starts its own operations in Australia

Augsburg, April 1, 2010 – WashTec, the world leader in providing car wash equipment and services, has founded its own subsidiary "WashTec Australia Pty Ltd" and has started direct sales and service operations in Australia. The headquarters of WashTec Australia are located in Sydney.

Thorsten Krüger, CEO of WashTec AG, on the reasoning and timing for this move:

"The economical downturn has affected the Australian market similarly to other markets and caused our non-exclusive distributor, CK Group Australia, to exit the car wash business in March.

The Australian car wash market is attractive and well established with a WashTec installed base of several hundred machines. The car wash business continues to be profitable for most operators and we are committed to support our existing customers with quality service and equipment. WashTec Australia, as all our direct operations world-wide, will focus on these core competencies: providing its customers with the equipment and services they need for a profitable car wash business.

This investment into the Australian market will on the short-term secure our ongoing equipment sales as well as high product availability for our customers in this region. In the mid-term this will further strengthen our global presence, world-wide market-leadership and relationship to large accounts."
