We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of NDX Trading, Inc., as of September 30, 2010 and 2009, and the related statements of income, stockholder's equity, and cash flows for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of NDX Trading, Inc., as of September 30, 2010 and 2009, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

Notes to Financial Statements

Note 1 Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Organization and Nature of Business

NDX Trading, Inc. (the "Company") is registered as a broker-dealer in securities with the Securities and Exchange Commission under (SEC) Rule 15c3-3 (k)(2)(ii) which provides that all funds and securities belonging to the Company's customers would be handled by a clearing broker-dealer. The Company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of NDX Holdings (the "Parent").

Approximately 25% of the Company's customers are located in the State of Minnesota and the remaining are located throughout the United States.

Use of Estimates in Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of the accompanying financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions that directly affect the results of reported assets, liabilities, revenue, and expenses. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Revenue and Cost Recognition

Security transactions are recorded on a trade date basis. Commissions and related clearing expenses are recorded on a settlement date basis, generally the third business day following the transaction. If materially different, commission income and expense are recorded on a trade date basis.

Reserve Requirement

The Company acts as an introducing broker and clears all transactions on a fully disclosed basis with a clearing broker or dealer. Therefore, the Company is exempt from the reserve requirements pursuant to SEC Rule 15c3-3.

Income Taxes

On January 1, 2007 the Company elected to be taxed under the provisions of a Qualified Subchapter S Subsidiary of the Internal Revenue Code and comparable state regulations. Under these provisions, the Company's assets, liabilities, income, deductions, and credits are treated as those of the Parent S Corporation. The Parent does not pay taxes on its taxable income (nor is it allowed a net operating loss carry back or carryover as a deduction). Instead, the one stockholder reports on their personal income tax return their proportionate share of the Company's taxable income (or loss) and tax credits.

Advertising Costs

Advertising costs are expensed as incurred.

Property, Equipment, and Depreciation

Property and equipment are valued at cost, net of accumulated depreciation. Maintenance and repair costs are charged to expense as incurred. Gains or losses on disposition of property and equipment are reflected in operations. Depreciation is computed on the straight-line method for financial reporting purposes, based on the estimated useful lives of the assets.

Subsequent Events

We evaluated events occurring subsequent to the date of our financial statements through November 24, 2010, which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued. We have recognized the effect of all subsequent events that provide additional evidence about conditions that existed at our balance sheet date of September 30, 2010, including estimates inherent in the process of preparing our financial statements. There were no nonrecognized subsequent events to be disclosed in our financial statements.

Note 2 Net Capital Requirements

Pursuant to the net capital provisions of Rule 15c3-1 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, the Company is required to maintain a minimum net capital, as defined under such provisions. Net capital and the related net capital ratio may fluctuate on a daily basis. At September 30, 2010 the Company had net capital of $143,139 and net capital requirements of $100,000. The Company's ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital at September 30, 2010 was .51 to 1. The SEC permits a ratio of no greater than 15 to 1. Furthermore, net capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital would exceed 10 to 1.

Note 4 Receivable from Clearing Organization

Accounts receivable totaling $48,314 and $63,300 as September 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively, consists of commission income and other fees due from the clearing organization.

The Company clears all customer transactions through another broker-dealer on a fully disclosed basis (Note 1). Notes to Financial Statements

Note 9 Commitments and Contingencies

Included in the Company's clearing agreement with its clearing broker-dealer is an indemnification clause. This clause relates to instances where the Company's customers fail to settle security transactions. In the event this occurs, the Company has indemnified the clearing broker-dealer to the extent of any net losses on these unsettled trades. At September 30, 2010, management of the Company had not been notified by the clearing broker-dealer, nor were they otherwise aware, of any potential losses relating to this indemnification.

The Company may be involved from time to time in various claims and legal proceedings of a nature considered normal to its business dealings. While any proceeding or litigation has an element of uncertainty, management of the Company believes that the outcome of any pending or threatened actions will not have a material adverse effect on the business or financial condition or results of operations of the Company.

The Company sponsored a 401(k) profit sharing plan that covered substantially all full-time employees of the Company. Employees were allowed to make voluntary contributions to the plan. Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5

Board of Directors
NDX Trading, Inc.
New Brighton, Minnesota

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of NDX Trading, Inc. as of and for the year ended September 30, 2010, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of the internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above. However, we identified certain deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be significant deficiencies, and communicated them in writing to management and those charged with governance on November 24, 2010.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at September 30, 2010, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

2. Compared the amounts reported on the audited Form X-17A-5 for the year ended September 30, 2010, as applicable, with the amounts reported in Form SIPC-7T for the year ended September 30, 2010 noting no differences.

We were not engaged to, and did not, conduct an examination, the objective of which would be the expression of an opinion on compliance. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. Had we performed additional procedures, other matters might have come to our attention that would have been reported to you.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the specified parties listed above and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
