INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To The Stockholders
Vanderbilt Securities, LLC
Melville, New York

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of Vanderbilt Securities, LLC as of September 30, 2010, and the related statement of operations, changes in stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the statement of financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall statement of financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Vanderbilt Securities, LLC as of September 30, 2010, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The supplementary information is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements, but is supplementary information required by rule 17a-5 under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in our audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

Notes to Financial Statements

Organization and Nature of Business

Vanderbilt Securities, LLC (the “Company”) operates in New York as an introducing securities broker-dealer in which securities transactions orders for customers are placed through a clearing agent (Pershing, LLC) on a fully disclosed basis. The Company does not hold securities on behalf of customers and the firm did not maintain margin accounts at the year end.

The Company operates under the provisions of Paragraph (k)(2)(ii) of rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission and, accordingly, is exempt from the remaining provisions of that rule. Essentially, the requirements of Paragraph (k)(2)(ii) provide that the Company clear all transactions on behalf of customers’ funds and securities to the clearing broker-dealer. The clearing broker-dealer carries all of the accounts of the customers and maintains and preserves all related books and records as are customarily kept by a clearing broker-dealer.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

For purposes of reporting cash flows, cash and cash equivalents include cash and interest-bearing deposits held at financial institutions and money market funds with its clearing broker.

As of September 30, 2010, the Company has a net operating loss carryforward for federal tax purposes of $165,673 that expires in 2027. These losses can be used to offset future taxable income.

Commissions Receivable and Payable

Commissions receivable include commission amounts not yet received from the clearing agent.

VANDERBILT SECURITIES, LLC

Notes to Financial Statements

Net capital requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (SEC rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires that the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, shall not exceed 15 to 1 (and the rule of the “applicable” exchange also provides that equity capital may not be withdrawn or cash dividends paid if the resulting net capital ratio would exceed 10 to 1). At September 30, 2010 the Company had net capital of $246,276, which was $196,276 in excess of its required net capital of $50,000. The Company’s net capital ratio was 1.76 to 1.

Financial instruments with off-balance sheet risk

In the normal course of business, the Company executes, as agent, transactions on behalf of customers. If the agency transactions do not settle because of failure to perform by either the customer or counterparty, the company may be obligated to discharge the obligations of the nonperforming party and, as a result, may incur a loss if the market value of the security is different from the contract amount of the transaction.

The Company does not anticipate nonperformance by the customers or counterparties in the above situations. The Company policy is to monitor its market exposure and counterparty risk. In addition, the Company has a policy of reviewing, as considered necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty and customer with which it conducts business.

Fair value of financial instruments

As of September 30, 2010, the estimated fair values of the Company's financial instruments and significant assumptions made in determining fair values are as follows:

Cash and cash equivalents, loans payable, commission payable, and accrued expenses: The amounts reported in the Statement of Financial Condition approximate fair values due to the short-term maturities of these instruments.

Concentrations and credit risk

The Company places its cash with high quality financial institutions. At times, such amount may be in excess of the FDIC insurance limits.

The Company uses a single clearing broker to process all its transactions and maintain all its accounts. There are other clearing brokers available for the Company's use.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL

To the Stockholders
Vanderbilt Securities, LLC
Melville, New York

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Vanderbilt Securities, LLC for the year ended September 30, 2010, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal controls.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examination, counts, verifications, and comparisons.
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13.
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at September 30, 2010 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., and other regulatory agencies which rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than those specified parties.
