UNITED STATES TAXATION

A portion of the purchase price of the Notes is attributable to interest accrued for the period starting from and including the Interest Commencement Date to but excluding the Issue Date. Accordingly, a portion of the interest received on the Interest Payment Date scheduled for July 16, 2015 equal to such accrued interest should not be taxable when received but should instead reduce the holder's adjusted tax basis in the Notes by a corresponding amount.

Because the purchase price of the Notes, excluding the portion attributable to accrued interest as described above, exceeds the principal amount of the Notes, a U.S. Holder may elect to treat the excess as amortizable bond premium. A U.S. Holder that makes this election would reduce the amount required to be included in such holder's income each year with respect to interest on the Notes by the amount of amortizable bond premium allocable to that year, based on the Note's yield to maturity. If a U.S. Holder makes an election to amortize bond premium, the election would apply to all debt instruments, other than debt instruments the interest on which is excludible from gross income, that the U.S. Holder holds at the beginning of the first taxable year to which the election applies or that such holder thereafter acquires, and the U.S. Holder may not revoke the election without the consent of the Internal Revenue Service.

The following paragraphs supplement the discussion under "Tax Matters" in the Prospectus dated as of June 3, 2008, and reflect recently enacted legislation.

Capital gain of a non-corporate U.S. Holder is generally taxed at preferential rates where the property is held for more than one year.

Medicare Tax

A U.S. Holder that is an individual or estate, or a trust that does not fall into a special class of trusts that is exempt from such tax, is subject to a 3.8% tax (the "Medicare tax") on the lesser of (1) the U.S. Holder's "net investment income" (or "undistributed net investment income" in the case of an estate or trust) for the relevant taxable year and (2) the excess of the U.S. Holder's modified adjusted gross income for the taxable year over a certain threshold (which in the case of individuals is between $125,000 and $250,000, depending on the individual's circumstances). A holder's net investment income generally includes its interest income and its net gains from the disposition of Notes, unless such interest income or net gains are derived in the ordinary course of the conduct of a trade or business (other than a trade or business that consists of certain passive or trading activities). U.S. Holders that are individuals, estates or trusts are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the applicability of the Medicare tax to their income and gains in respect of their investments in the Notes.

Information with Respect to Foreign Financial Assets

Owners of “specified foreign financial assets” with an aggregate value in excess of $50,000 (and in some circumstances, a higher threshold) may be required to file an information report with respect to such assets with their tax returns. “Specified foreign financial assets” may include financial accounts maintained by foreign financial institutions, as well as the following, but only if they are held for investment and not held in accounts maintained by financial institutions: (i) stocks and securities issued by non-United States persons, (ii) financial instruments and contracts that have non-United States issuers or counterparties, and (iii) interests in foreign entities. Holders are urged to consult their tax advisors regarding the application of this reporting requirement to their ownership of the Notes.
