The statement of financial condition is the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the statement of financial condition based on our audit. Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2015

1. Description of Business and Basis for Presentation

ALPS Distributors, Inc. (“we”, “our”, “us”, the “Company” or “ADI”) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of ALPS Holdings, Inc. (“AHI”). AHI is a wholly-owned subsidiary of DST Systems, Inc. (“DST”). ADI is a registered broker-dealer with the Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (“FINRA”).

We perform various services for our clients including: supervising and maintaining licenses of sponsor’s staff, review and approval of marketing materials, acting as legal underwriter/distributor of mutual fund and similar products, administering 12b-1 plans, execution of broker/dealer selling agreements, performing due diligence on financial intermediaries, acting as agent for private placement securities, and administering firm and regulatory element for registered representatives.

We operate under the provisions of paragraph (k)(2)(i) of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and, accordingly, claim exemption from the remaining provisions of that Rule. As such, we are not required to maintain a “Special Account for the Exclusive Benefit of Customers.”

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents

We consider all liquid investments with original maturities of 90 days or less to be cash equivalents.

Client funds/obligations

In connection with providing services for our clients, we may hold client funds which, based upon our intent, are restricted for use and have been classified as Funds held on behalf of clients within the Statement of Financial Condition.

Client funds obligations represent our contractual obligations to remit funds to satisfy client obligations and are recorded on the Statement of Financial Condition when incurred.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are stated at the amount billed to fund clients. We provide an allowance for doubtful accounts, which is based upon a review of outstanding receivables, historical collection information and existing economic conditions. Delinquent receivables may be written off based on specific circumstances of the fund clients. We extend unsecured credit to our customers.

Income taxes

ADI is included within the consolidated federal income tax return of DST. We compute income tax expense and income taxes payable to DST under an intercompany tax allocation policy which approximates the separate return method. The tax sharing policy provides for compensation for tax benefits of losses and credits to the extent utilized by other members in the consolidated tax return. Deferred income tax effects of transactions reported in different periods for financial reporting purposes are recorded under the liability method. This method gives consideration to the future tax consequences of deferred income or expense items and immediately recognizes changes in income tax laws upon enactment. We recognize interest and penalties accrued related to unrecognized tax benefits, if any, in income tax expense.

ALPS Distributors, Inc.
Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2015

From time to time, we may enter into transactions of which the tax treatment under the Internal Revenue Code or applicable state tax laws is uncertain. In these instances, we provide federal and/or state income taxes on such transactions, together with related interest, net of income tax benefit, and any applicable penalties.

Fair value of financial instruments

Fair value is defined as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Various valuation inputs are used to determine the fair value of assets or liabilities. Such inputs are defined broadly as follows:

Level 1 - Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the reporting entity has the ability to access at the measurement date.

Level 2 - Other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, etc.) for the asset or liability.

Level 3 - Significant unobservable inputs (including the entity's own assumptions in determining fair value) for the asset or liability.

Substantially all of our financial assets and liabilities are represented by cash balances held by depository institutions or are short-term in nature thus their carrying amounts approximate fair value.

New authoritative accounting guidance

In May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued an accounting standard, "Revenue from Contracts with Customers," which requires companies to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration it expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The new standard will become effective for us beginning in 2018 and may be adopted either retrospectively to each prior reporting period presented or as a cumulative effect adjustment as of the date of adoption. Early adoption of this standard is permitted as of January 2017. We are currently evaluating the standard, including which transition approach will be applied and the estimated impact it will have on our financial statements.

Subsequent events

Subsequent events have been evaluated through February 26, 2016 which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

3. Income Taxes

Deferred assets and liabilities are determined based on the differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities as measured by the enacted tax rates which will be in effect when these differences reverse. Deferred tax expense (benefit) is generally the result of changes in the assets or liabilities for deferred taxes. The net deferred tax liability of $17,614 at December 31, 2015 is comprised of deferred tax liabilities of $21,481 and deferred tax assets of $3,867. The net deferred tax liability at December 31, 2015 relates primarily to prepaid assets.

Various state and local income tax returns of the DST consolidated group are under examination by taxing authorities. We do not believe that the outcome of any examination will have a material impact on our financial statements.

4. Related Party Transactions

ADI and AHI, through AHI's wholly-owned subsidiary ALPS Fund Services, Inc. ("AFS"), have entered into an expense allocation agreement, which calls for AHI to pay various overhead and operating expenses of ADI and ADI agrees to reimburse AFS for such costs paid by AHI on its behalf. ADI records expenses in amounts determined according to the reasonable allocation from AHI, applied on a consistent basis. For the year ended December 31, 2015, the allocation was determined to be ADI's percentage of revenue to the total consolidated revenue of AHI which resulted in allocated expenses from AHI in the amount of $3,961,760.

For the year ended December 31, 2015, ADI paid cash dividends to DST in the amount of $4,044,698. At December 31, 2015, ADI had a payable to Parent of $169,703 which represents a net balance as the result of various transactions between ADI and DST and its wholly-owned subsidiaries. These amounts are settled periodically throughout the year.

5. Significant Estimates and Concentrations

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require disclosure of certain significant estimates and current vulnerabilities due to certain concentrations. Those matters include the following:

Major customers

We had two major customers (customers who account for more than 10% of revenues) whose combined revenues accounted for 23% of our revenue for the year ended December 31, 2015. We were notified that one of these major customers would not be renewing its contract with us effective December 31, 2015.

Credit risk

Cash balances which exceed Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insurance coverage limits subject us to a concentration of credit risk.

Current economic conditions

Economic and financial market conditions could adversely affect the results of operations in future periods. Instability in the financial markets may significantly impact the volume of future sales, which could have an adverse impact on our future operating results.

In addition, given the volatility of economic conditions, the values of assets and liabilities recorded in the financial statements could change rapidly, resulting in material future adjustments in allowances for accounts receivable that could negatively impact our ability to maintain sufficient liquidity.

Other contingencies

We are involved in legal and regulatory proceedings arising in the normal course of our business. While the ultimate outcome of these proceedings cannot be predicted with certainty, it is the opinion of management, after consultation with legal counsel, that the final outcome in such proceedings, in the aggregate, would not have a material adverse effect on our financial condition, results of operations and cash flow.

Indemnifications

In the normal course of business, we enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties which provide general indemnifications. Our maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as the contracts refer to potential claims that have not yet occurred. However, management expects the risk of loss to be remote.

6. Net Capital Requirements

We are subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of a minimum net capital requirement. We have elected the alternative net capital method. This method establishes a minimum net capital requirement of the greater of $250,000 or 2% of aggregate debits, pursuant to Rule 15c3-3. At December 31, 2015, we had net capital of $1,684,233, which was $1,434,233 in excess of our required net capital of $250,000.
