NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
December 31, 2016

NOTE A – SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Accounting principles followed by Keiser Analytics, LLC (the Company) and the methods of applying those principles which materially affect the determination of financial position, results of operation and cash flows are summarized below:

Organization

Keiser Analytics, LLC (“the Company”) is registered as a broker and dealer in securities pursuant to Section 15 (b) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. The Company was formed in April 2005 in the State of New York.

Description of Business

The Company, located in New York, NY is a broker and dealer in securities registered with the Securities and Exchanges Commission (“SEC”) and is a member of FINRA. The Company operates under SEC Rule 15c3-3(k)(i), which provides “All customers transactions are cleared through another broker-dealer on a fully disclosed basis.”

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

The Company does not believe that the adoption of any recently issued, but not yet effective, accounting standards will have a material effect on its financial position and results of operations.

Basis of Accounting

The Company uses the accrual basis of accounting for financial statement and income tax reporting. Accordingly, revenues are recognized when services are rendered and expenses realized when the obligation is incurred.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three month or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates marked value.

Basis of Presentation

The Company’s financial statements are prepared in accordance accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

Revenue Recognition

The Company typically enters into contracts with the clients calling for periodic retainer fees to

See accountants audit report.

KEISER ANALYTICS, LLC
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

be paid during the term of the arrangement. In some circumstances a success fee is to be paid out once the consulting agreement (the ‘transaction’) is successfully completed. This success fee is typically based on a percentage of the total consideration of the transaction, although in certain cases it may be a flat fee. Accordingly, the Company recognizes retainer fee in the period earned, with separate revenue recognition once each transaction is finalized.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist primarily of cash and cash equivalents. All of the Company’s cash and cash equivalents are held at high credit quality financial institutions.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification (‘ASC’) 825, ‘Financial Instruments’, requires the Company to disclose estimated fair value for its financial instruments. Fair values estimates, methods, and assumptions are set forth below for the Company’s financial instruments. The carrying amount of cash, accounts receivable, prepaid expenses and accounts payable and accrued expenses approximate fair value because of the short maturity of those instruments.

Financial instruments that are subject to fair value disclosure requirements are carried in the financial statements at an amount that approximates fair value and include cash and cash equivalents. Fair values are based on quoted market prices and assumptions concerning the amount and timing of estimated future cash flows and assumed discount rates reflecting varying degrees of perceived risk.

Comprehensive Income

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 130, Reporting Comprehensive Income, establishes requirements for disclosure of comprehensive income that includes certain items previously not included in the statement of income, including unrealized gains and losses on available-for-sales securities and foreign currency translation adjustment among others. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company did not have any components of comprehensive income to report.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

See accountants audit report.
