

Vanessa Countryman
Secretary
U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission
100 F Street NE
Washington, DC 20549-1090

Green Impact Exchange, LLC; Notice of Filing of Application for Registration as a National Securities Exchange Under Section 6 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Release No. 34-100547; File No. 10-244)

Dear Ms. Countryman,

I appreciate the opportunity to express my support for the Green Impact Exchange.

The Green Impact Exchange aims to address one of the most pressing threats to humanity: climate change. The WHO estimates that 3.6 billion people worldwide live in places that are highly susceptible to climate change, which leaves generations vulnerable to extreme weather events or poor air quality. Corporations are to blame for perpetuating the current climate crisis. By prioritizing their bottom lines over creating a habitable world, companies deserve accountability for short-sighted and high-polluting behaviors. We needed more awareness about climate change yesterday. Tomorrow, we will say the same about today.

The Green Impact Exchange promotes critical climate awareness by changing the incentive structure around corporate governance and investing. A challenge of the green transition is to encourage companies to deal with short-term switching costs. Only then can they access the long-term benefits of sustainable and resilient operations. The Green Impact Exchange provides this important incentive by allowing companies, who demonstrate good-faith commitments to sustainability and back their words with action, to list and gain opportunities for additional capital. By promoting companies that truly commit themselves to sustainability, the Green Impact Exchange uplifts companies who break away from greenwashing and generates shared values of sustainability across companies.

Transparency around a company's operations is especially important for investors. While financial gain and social welfare currently feel mutually exclusive, the Green Impact Exchange flips this dynamic. The Exchange requires a company's disclosure of their operations and links investors, who want to promote social good, with companies who share similar values of sustainability. Financial upside is because of, not in spite of, a commitment to creating a better world for the future.

At this important juncture in the movement against climate change, the Green Impact Exchange brings environmental impact to the center of governance decisions and enacts much-needed corporate accountability. By aligning financial and social incentives, the Green Impact Exchange makes listing and investing the most intuitive decision to protect wallets and wellness for generations.

I am grateful for this opportunity to express my views on the Green Impact Exchange, and I would highly encourage the SEC to approve this Exchange.

Sincerely,
Robert F Barnett III
Managing Partner, Wexford Capital Partners