Re: Pay Ratio Disclosure, File No. S7-07-13

Dear Ms. Murphy,

Since the corporatist tail has been wagging the SEC dog for years now, I harbor no illusions that the SEC will finally grow a pair and do their damned job. If they hadn't betrayed their mandate and the American people, we wouldn't be on the brink of becoming a continent-wide penal colony from which the corporatists could draw an endless supply of slave labor.

That said, I strongly support regulations that would require publicly-traded companies to disclose CEO-to-median worker pay ratios. As income inequality reaches unprecedented heights, the public has the right to know which corporations are fueling the yawning gap between rich and poor.

Disclosure of CEO-to-worker pay ratios are also crucial for investors. This information is important for determining whether corporations are diverting resources to executives at the expense of long-term investments and workforce development. Additionally, investors need to be able to gauge whether executives' compensation is falling in line with their performance.

Sincerely,

Gregory Crawford
