Re: Reporting of Securities Loans (File No. S7-18-21)

Dear Secretary Countryman:

I am writing in strong support of rule 10c-1, "Reporting of Securities Loans".

Short sale information is provided too long after a position has been entered into and investors can't be aware of the risks that they take on when buying these securities. This lack of information creates a problem for all investors. We can't be investing on incomplete and dated short sale information.

I support the intraday 15 minute reporting requirement. The cost and effort involved with this is justified to help in early identification of abusive shorting practices, to reduce the ability of toxic market participants to hide behind loopholes and to attempt to prevent such fraud occurring in the capital markets.

The new rule would also provide companies a greater ability to defend themselves against predatory short selling. Short selling with no disclosure harms true competition and price discovery. The enactment of this rule would also allow the public and companies to watch for abusive practices, by being able to monitor short selling for security fraud for the securities they are invested in, helping to remove bad market participants.

Sincerely,
A Concerned Investor
