

RE: File Number S7-23-19 Rule 14a-8

Dear Mr. Clayton and SEC Commissioners,

I'm a mother worried about the rapidly accelerating impact of climate change on my children and all children. As a member of Mothers Out Front, I urge you to withdraw the changes you are considering to SEC Rule 14a-8.

By making the proposed rule changes, the SEC will be protecting big corporations rather than the children in all our lives who depend on us.

As a mom, I have chosen to invest in funds that are marketed as sustainable, and it is essential that these companies know that sustainability is a high priority for me because of the climate disrupted future that awaits all our children. Corporate actions have a big impact on climate, and shareholder proposals are an important way for investors like me to have a voice.

Please reject these proposed changes that make it harder for investors to speak up.

Thank you,
Renu Bostwick
