

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
BEFORE THE SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION
ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEEDING FILE NO. 3-20816

In the Matter of ANITA SGARRO,

Respondent,

MOTION FOR STAY FOR 4 DAYS TO RESPOND TO SUMMARY DISPOSITION

As discussed in the answers to this AP, it is well documented that Sgarro is filing for post-conviction relief and her cognizable claims are meritorious because they include new evidence and investigations into more new false evidence and she has a constitutional right to file this motion for relief. It took up until this past few days to get answers she was looking for. She had to do this without counsel because she could not afford counsel especially when they all were asking for between $20,000-$35,000 because of the voluminous amounts of documents from this very complicated trial of more than 2 months. This is even more complicated for Sgarro as a pro se movant.

Therefore, Sgarro has until its due date which is May 19, 2023, one year after 90 days of reaffirmation of her en banc hearing for her appeal when she could have filed her writ of certiorari or denial of such which apparently on her case was denied on June 21, 2022. Since this 2255 motion will reveal new evidence that will impact the claims and exhibits the SEC is using then it would mean they may be barring Sgarro based on false evidence and that would be a miscarriage of justice for Sgarro, respectfully.

It is imperative that Sgarro not give up her constitutional rights and is requesting just a few more days until the 19th of May, 2023 to respond to the summary disposition that is due May 16th, 2023.

Respectfully submitted,
