COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Securities and Exchange Commission (“Commission”) for its Complaint against defendant Matthew D. Weitzman (“Weitzman” or “Defendant”) alleges as follows:

SUMMARY

1. This action concerns the misappropriation of millions of dollars of client assets that had been entrusted to an investment adviser. From at least 2005 until March 2009, Weitzman misappropriated millions of dollars from the clients of AFW Wealth Advisors, the business name for AFW Asset Management, Inc., a registered investment adviser co-founded by Weitzman (“AFW”). He used this client money entrusted to him for investment as his personal piggy-bank to furnish a lavish lifestyle, which included a multi-million dollar home, an interest in a horse, cars, and other expensive luxury items.

2. Weitzman misappropriated client funds invested through managed accounts held at a registered Broker-Dealer (the "Broker-Dealer"). First, Weitzman initiated unauthorized transfers from the client accounts at the Broker-Dealer to an AFW bank account. He then either withdrew the clients' funds or transferred the funds directly into one of his personal bank accounts. Weitzman actively concealed his fraudulent scheme by forging client signatures on letters purportedly authorizing these transfers and submitting those letters to the Broker-Dealer. In addition, when certain clients questioned Weitzman about the unauthorized transfers from their accounts, Weitzman falsely stated that the funds would be used for legitimate investment purposes when in fact Weitzman was taking the funds for his own personal use.

3. The conduct has been ongoing. As recently as March 24, 2009, Weitzman made an unauthorized transfer of $35,000 from a client's account.

VIOLATIONS

4. By virtue of the conduct alleged herein:

- a. The Defendant, directly or indirectly, has engaged and is engaging in acts, practices and courses of business that constitute violations of Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") [15 U.S.C. § 78j(b)] and Rule 10b-5 thereunder [17 C.F.R. § 240.10b-5], and Sections 206(1) and 206(2) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act") [15 U. S.C. §§ 80b-6(1) and 80b-6(2)];
and
- b. The Defendant, directly or indirectly, has engaged and is engaging in acts, practices and courses of business, that constitute aiding and abetting violations of Section 204 of the Advisers Act [15 U.S.C. § 80b-4] and Rules 204-2(a)-3 and 204-2(a)(7) thereunder [17 C.F.R. §§ 275.204-2(a)(3) and 275.204-2(a)(7)].

5. Unless the Defendant is permanently restrained and enjoined, he will again engage in the acts, practices and courses of business set forth in this Complaint and in acts, practices and courses of business of similar type and object.

NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS AND RELIEF SOUGHT

6. The Commission brings this action pursuant to the authority conferred upon it by Section 21(d)(1) of the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78u(d)(1)] and Section 209 of the Advisers Act [15 U.S.C. § 80b-9], seeking to restrain and enjoin permanently the Defendant from engaging in the acts, practices, transactions, and courses of business alleged herein.

7. The Commission also seeks an asset freeze, a verified accounting, an order prohibiting the Defendant from destroying or altering documents, and an order prohibiting Defendant from filing for bankruptcy protection without notifying the Commission and gaining approval of this Court.

8. Finally, the Commission seeks a judgment ordering the Defendant to disgorge ill-gotten gains and pay prejudgment interest thereon, and ordering the Defendant to pay civil money penalties pursuant to Section 21(d)(3) of the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. § 78u(d)(3)] and Section 209(e) of the Advisers Act [15 U.S.C. § 80b-9(e)].

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

9. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to Sections 21(e) and 27 of the Exchange Act [15 U.S.C. §§ 78u(e) and 78aa], and Section 214 of the Advisers Act [15 U.S.C. § 80b-14].

10. Venue is proper in the Southern District of New York pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391. The Defendant, directly and indirectly, has made use of the means and instrumentalities of interstate commerce, or of the mails, in connection with the transactions, acts, practices and courses of business alleged herein. A substantial part of the events described herein occurred, and the Defendant resides, in the Southern District of New York. In addition, AFW is located in this district.

DEFENDANT

11. Weitzman, age 43, resides in Armonk, New York. He is a co-founder of AFW Asset Management, Inc., doing business under the name AFW Wealth Advisors, and until March 30, 2009, served as Chief Compliance Officer. He previously held Series 7, 24, 63 and 65 licenses. He is not currently registered with the Commission in any capacity.

RELATED ENTITY

12. AFW is the business name for AFW Asset Management, Inc., an investment adviser registered with the Commission since October 1993. AFW Asset Management, Inc. was incorporated in Delaware in 1993. AFW's principal place of business is located in Purchase, New York, and it has an office in Natick, Massachusetts.

FACTS

Weitzman's Misappropriation and Misrepresentations to AFW Clients

13. Weitzman co-founded AFW in 1993. Prior to April 2009, AFW purported to have over 300 clients and approximately $200 million in assets under management.

14. AFW offers advisory services to individuals and charges its clients a management fee. Weitzman received a portion of this management fee. Clients' investments are made in individual securities which are held in managed accounts. The vast majority of these managed accounts are maintained at the Broker-Dealer. In some instances, the Broker-Dealer referred clients to AFW.

15. AFW clients who invested their money in an account with the Broker-Dealer had the option to authorize Weitzman and the other AFW principal to perform certain transactions in the accounts on the clients' behalf via a limited power of attorney. Generally, this power of attorney enabled Weitzman and the other AFW principal to enter trades, and if the client desired, to authorize disbursements and withdrawal of fees from the accounts.

16. Since at least 2005, Weitzman used certain of the AFW client accounts as his personal piggy-bank. On at least 100 occasions, Weitzman made unauthorized transfers ranging from $15,000 to $100,000 from at least 20 clients' accounts, including clients' Individual Retirement Accounts.

17. In order to facilitate and conceal his unauthorized transfers, Weitzman forged letters purportedly authorizing wire transfers from clients' accounts to an AFW bank account (the "AFW account"), which he controlled. Weitzman transmitted his forged authorization letters to the Broker-Dealer. Upon receipt of this purported authorization, the Broker-Dealer transferred the funds as Weitzman directed, supposedly for the benefit of the AFW client.

18. On at least four occasions in 2007, Weitzman forged checks drawn against funds held in certain AFW client brokerage accounts and deposited the stolen funds into the AFW account.

19. Weitzman either sold securities held in the clients' accounts, or redeemed shares held in money market funds in order to acquire cash for the unauthorized transfers, since the clients' brokerage accounts at the Broker-Dealer generally did not hold more than a minimal amount of cash.

20. Once he had the looted funds under his control in the AFW account, Weitzman either withdrew the clients' funds or transferred the funds directly into one of his personal bank accounts. Weitzman used the money he misappropriated from the clients to furnish his luxurious life-style, which included his multi-million dollar home, an interest in a horse, luxury cars, and other expensive items. From 2005 through March 2009, Weitzman's withdrawals of clients' funds or transfers of funds to his bank accounts totaled in excess of $6 million.

21. In some instances, Weitzman misappropriated funds from AFW clients who were unlikely to be scrutinizing their account statements from the Broker-Dealer. For example, Weitzman misappropriated a total of approximately $430,000 in a series of unauthorized transfers from a client during the last three months of 2008 while that client was terminally ill ("Victim A"). Weitzman forged Victim A's signature and transmitted a letter to the Broker-Dealer purportedly authorizing a transfer of $100,000 from Victim A's account. The letter was dated several days after Victim A's death.

22. After Victim A died, Weitzman misappropriated a total of $85,000 in two separate unauthorized transfers from the account of Victim A's widow.

23. Weitzman also targeted an elderly couple ("Victim B") with compromised mental capacities. Weitzman misappropriated a total of approximately $400,000 from Victim B.

24. According to Weitzman's elderly father-in-law who was also an AFW client ("Victim C"), in early March 2009, Weitzman admitted to Victim C that beginning in 2002, he misappropriated $3 million from him.

25. Weitzman also defrauded a 24 year old law student ("Victim D") who entrusted Weitzman with investing a $1 million inheritance from her deceased parents. Weitzman misappropriated $100,000 from Victim D. When Victim D asked about the $100,000 wire transfer, Weitzman told her he was simply "moving money around" for routine investment purposes. That statement was false because Weitzman had in fact taken the money for his own use.

26. In some instances, other AFW clients noticed the unauthorized transfers from their accounts and contacted Weitzman for information. For example, in February 2009, one client ("Victim E") emailed Weitzman to ask about a $35,000 wire transfer from his account. Weitzman responded to Victim E's email stating, "[t]hat was an investment that we made. The funds will come back into the account soon." In fact, Weitzman forged Victim E's signature on a letter of authorization to the Broker-Dealer, and never made any investments with those misappropriated funds and never returned the funds to Victim E's account.

27. In at least one other instance in 2008, Weitzman recommended to a client ("Victim F") that she invest in structured notes, which are fixed income debt instruments. Weitzman told Victim F that these investments would be held in an account that was different from Victim F's account at the Broker-Dealer. Weitzman sold securities held in Victim F's account and used the proceeds, not to purchase structured notes, but rather to make two separate unauthorized transfers of $35,000 and $40,000 to the AFW account.

Weitzman's Fraud Continued until at least March 2009

28. On March 24, 2009, Weitzman submitted a letter of authorization, purportedly signed by an AFW client ("Victim G"), to the Broker-Dealer for a $35,000 transfer from that client's account to the AFW account. Weitzman had forged Victim G's signature on the letter he transmitted to the Broker-Dealer.

29. Victim G logged onto his account at the Broker-Dealer and noticed the $35,000 transfer. Realizing that he did not authorize the transfer, Victim G contacted the Broker-Dealer. The Broker-Dealer informed Victim G that the withdrawal had been made pursuant to a faxed letter of authorization. Victim G then contacted Weitzman who told Victim G that Weitzman believed he could withdraw money from the account to invest in high yield certificates of deposit. Victim G explained to Weitzman that he had not authorized any such withdrawals. Weitzman then asked Victim G not to contact the Broker-Dealer and assured him that he would investigate.

30. Nevertheless, Victim G contacted the Broker-Dealer and obtained the purported letter of authorization. Victim G then realized that the signature was a forgery.

31. When the Broker-Dealer contacted Weitzman about the transfer, Weitzman again claimed falsely that he believed the transfer was authorized, but agreed to reimburse Victim G's account for the $35,000. Despite this, the Broker-Dealer scheduled a telephone call with AFW's other principal for March 30, 2009 to discuss a "signature issue."

32. Prior to the scheduled call on March 30, the other AFW principal confronted Weitzman and asked him what the Broker-Dealer wanted to discuss. Weitzman then admitted to the other AFW principal that over several years he misappropriated client funds from an unspecified number of AFW client accounts held by the Broker-Dealer.

33. On or around March 30, 2009, Weitzman also admitted to Victim C that, in addition to the $3 million that he had he misappropriated from Victim C's accounts, he also misappropriated funds from other AFW clients.

34. The evidence from the Broker-Dealer and AFW clients indicates, however, that Weitzman misappropriated in excess of $6 million from 2005 through March 2009.

Misleading Account Statements

35. As part of his fraudulent scheme, Weitzman falsified AFW's books and records in an effort to prevent his victims from realizing that he misappropriated funds from their accounts. The Broker-Dealer sent monthly statements to clients directly. AFW also sent quarterly statements to its clients, purportedly based on the information contained in the Broker-Dealer monthly statements. Weitzman prepared these quarterly statements on behalf of AFW.

36. On at least one occasion in 2007, Weitzman fabricated and misrepresented holdings in a client's account statement ("Victim H") in order to conceal $122,000 of misappropriated funds.

37. The Broker-Dealer issued a statement for the month of December 2007 that showed a balance of $291,197.19 in Victim H's account. Weitzman misappropriated $122,000 from Victim H's account in the months leading up to this statement. He concealed his theft from Victim H, however, by issuing a fabricated quarterly statement from AFW that showed a balance of $404,806.18, which was $113,608.99 more than the actual balance. The AFW statement inflated the money market fund balance and showed phony securities holdings in an amount that almost equaled the sum Weitzman had stolen.

38. Weitzman also attempted to explain any differences between the respective AFW and Broker-Dealer statements by claiming on the AFW statement that “discrepancies may exist due to circumstances outside AFW [sic] control.”

39. In addition, other defrauded clients’ quarterly statements from AFW were misleading because, even though the statements included the withdrawal of funds from the Broker-Dealer account, the statements did not disclose that those transfers were unauthorized and that Weitzman was systematically looting the accounts for his own gain.
