Please note CME Clearing will deploy SGD denominated swaps to the Production environment Tuesday, October 1st. This deployment will include:

- SGD margin data files and VWAP index support
- To account for negative zero rates that Singapore dollar Swap Offer Rate (SOR) has experienced, CME will shift the data by 4% before computing the returns.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, CME included statements concerning the purpose and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. CME has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

CME currently offers clearing for a variety of swaps products under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC"), including, specifically, clearing for over-the-counter ("OTC") interest rate swaps ("IRS"). CME proposes to make certain changes to its current IRS margin model in relation to Singapore Dollar ("SGD") IRS.

The current CME IRS margin model utilizes historical inputs. In August 2011, the Singapore Dollar Swap Offer Rate ("SOR") turned negative due to inflows into the Singapore dollar. Inputs into the IRS margin model are undefined for negative rate environments. The proposed change will solve for the negative SOR inputs from the August 2011 timeframe. The changes are being communicated to market participants via advisory notices. The text of the most recent advisory notice, which announces the intended October 1, 2013 production date for the change, is the subject of this filing. Prior advisory notices also discussed this change in the context of providing market participants with notice of the change for the purpose of announcing a testing environment.

There are no CME rulebook changes associated with the changes. The changes do not materially affect the CME IRS margin model. The changes only affect CME's interest rate swap clearing offering and do not materially impact CME's security-based swap clearing business. CME also notes that it has also submitted the proposed rule changes that are the subject of this filing to its primary regulator, the CFTC, in a separate filing. The changes became effective with the CFTC as of September 23, 2013. The changes are effective on filing but will become operational on October 1, 2013.

CME believes the proposed rule changes are consistent with the requirements of the Exchange Act including Section 17A of the Exchange Act.⁵ The proposed rule changes involve enhancements to CME's current IRS margin methodology and are therefore designed to promote the prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions and, to the extent applicable, derivatives agreements, contracts, and transactions, to assure the safeguarding of securities and funds which are in the custody or control of the clearing agency or for which it is responsible, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest consistent with Section

17A(b)(3)(F) of the Exchange Act.⁶ The proposed rule changes accomplish these objectives because the proposed rule changes help to adjust CME's IRS margin methodology to address the fact that the Singapore Dollar Swap Offer Rate ("SOR") turned negative due to inflows into the Singapore dollar and as such the changes contribute to the safeguarding of securities and funds in CME's custody or control or for which CME is responsible and the protection of investors.

Furthermore, the proposed changes are limited in their effect to swaps products offered under CME's authority to act as a derivatives clearing organization. These products are under the exclusive jurisdiction of the CFTC. As such, the proposed CME changes are limited to CME's activities as a derivatives clearing organization clearing swaps that are not security-based swaps; CME notes that the policies of the CFTC with respect to administering the Commodity Exchange Act are comparable to a number of the policies underlying the Exchange Act, such as promoting market transparency for over-the-counter derivatives markets, promoting the prompt and accurate clearance of transactions and protecting investors and the public interest.

Because the proposed changes are limited in their effect to swaps products offered under CME's authority to act as a derivatives clearing organization, the proposed changes are properly classified as effecting a change in an existing service of CME that:

- (a) primarily affects the clearing operations of CME with respect to products that are not securities, including futures that are not security futures, and swaps that are not security-based swaps or mixed swaps; and
- (b) does not significantly affect any securities clearing operations of CME or any rights or obligations of CME with respect to securities clearing or persons using such securities-clearing service.

⁶ 15 U.S.C. 78q-1(b)(3)(F).

As such, the changes are therefore consistent with the requirements of Section 17A of the Exchange Act⁷ and are properly filed under Section 19(b)(3)(A)⁸ and Rule 19b-4(f)(4)(ii)⁹ thereunder.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

CME does not believe that the proposed rule change will have any impact, or impose any burden, on competition. The proposed rule changes simply involve enhancements to CME's current IRS margin methodology.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

CME has not solicited comments regarding this proposed rule change. CME has not received any unsolicited written comments from interested parties.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The foregoing rule change has become effective upon filing pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A)(iii) of the Act¹⁰ and Rule 19b-4(f)(4)(ii)¹¹ thereunder. At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission summarily may temporarily suspend such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.
